PROCEEDINGS OF THE PUBLIC MEETING

24th December, 1949, Cuttack

The Public Meeting of the twenty-sixth session of the Indian Historical Records Commission was held in a specially erected pandal in the premises of Ravenshaw College, Cuttack on Saturday the 24th December 1949 at 11-00 A.M. The meeting was inaugurated by His Excellency M. Asaf Ali, Governor of Orissa, and was presided over by Hon'ble Sri Hare Krushna Mahatab, Premier of Orissa, in the absence of Hon'ble Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, Education Minister of India and ex-officio President of the Commission.

A list of members corrected up to date will be found on pages 8-16.

On arrival at the pandal, His Excellency the Governor and Hon'ble the Premier were received by the Secretary of the Commission. After garlanding His Excellency and the Premier, the Secretary introduced the members of the Commission to them. A group photograph was then taken. The members led His Excellency and the Hon'ble Premier in a procession to the pandal. Welcoming the Commission the Maharaja of Parlakimedi, Chairman of the Reception Committee, said :

"Mr. President, Delegates, Ladies and Gentlemen

On behalf of the Reception Committee, and on behalf of the Utkal University and the Government of Orissa, it is my pleasant duty to accord you all a most cordial and hearty welcome. It was a great pleasure for all of us here to know that you accepted our invitation. It is for the first time in the annals of this Province of Orissa that the Indian Historical Records Commission have met here since its existence in India, for the last 30 years, and I thank you all for giving us your special consideration for accepting our invitation by putting off claims of other big and advanced Provinces and Universities. Our Province is young in age and it has just stepped into its age of teens and our University is still younger and you may not find many things here which you had the privilege of enjoying elsewhere in India and so at the outset I request you all not to mind the inconveniences you are put to.

"Our Province has been built with fabrics of four different Provinces namely Bengal, Bihar, Central Province and Madras after a struggle during the last 45 years by gradual steps, and so the archives of our present Province have been scattered in the Provinces to which portions of Orissa once included by the British Government. It will take time to organise our Central Record Room by bringing copies of documents from all these four Provinces.

"Orissa was a centre of activities of the European Trading Companies who had established their factories at Hariharpur in the District of Cuttack, and Piply in the District of Balasore, and at Balasore. In the neighbourhood of Balasore we have Farasidinga, Olandazdinga and Dinamardinga in addition to the English factory. So the history of the 17th century of Orissa can be enriched by the study of records preserved in the languages of the French, Dutch and Danes. As our Province or the University will not be able now to conduct research in these directions, we hope that the Indian Historical Records Commission will help us in getting historical materials from these sources.

"Among the early administrative records in Orissa, the records of the Ganjam and Balasore districts are the earliest. The earliest records of the Ganjam district are preserved in the Madras Record Room and that of the North Balasore in Midnapore and Calcutta Record Rooms.

"The aims and objects of the deliberation of your Commission in India are most valuable as your Commission will entirely reconstruct history from most authentic sources of the modern period namely the official records of the Governments, which not only supply materials for history, but for many other problems of the country.

"In Orissa the District Record Rooms of Cuttack and Balasore contain records of the British period since 1803, but these Record Rooms also preserved good many records belonging to the Moghal and the Maratha periods which were filed in the courts at the beginning of the British Rule in Orissa. Unfortunately these valuable records were not properly looked after in the Record Rooms of the Collectors, and the result has been a great loss of materials for the study of history. It is expected that your Commission advise the Government to preserve these ancient documents of historical value from further deterioration.

"Local response to our invitation to membership of the Reception Committee has been, I am glad to say, considerable. Finally, our thanks are due to all of you for not only accepting the invitation, but for taking the trouble of coming here. You have our best wishes for a very successful session and as hosts we will try our best to make your stay as comfortable as possible."

INAUGURAL SPEECH OF HIS EXCELLENCY M. ASAF ALI THE GOVERNOR OF ORISSA

"Mr. Chairman and Members of the Historical Records Commission

I am deeply sensible of the honour you have done me by inviting me to inaugurate the 26th Session of your Commission. It is particularly so

2. The Maharaja of Parlakimedi, Chairman of the Reception Committee

because, carrying the patronage and support of the Government of India as your Commission does, there is no need for a layman, even though he happens to be the Head of a State, to obtrude himself on your deliberations. Yours is an assembly of erudite, scientifically minded and responsible scholars and, therefore, it needs no further introduction even in a Province which is situated in a far away corner of the country. The valuable work your Commission has been pursuing since 1919 is its own recommendation, and I take this opportunity to express my deep appreciation of the labours you have undertaken. I venture to think that men of your learning and single-minded pursuit of intellectual objectives owe it to yourselves and to the present and coming generations to collect, weigh, sift and interpret all available data required for unravelling a complex series of events which constitute the story of man's adventure on this earth. In the deeper sense the entire history of the Universe lies enshrined in all the perceptible and imperceptible realities which envelope life as a whole. Mankind is the youngest of the earth's offsprings, and its story covers a comparatively insignificant segment of History. As you are well aware, life in all its bewildering variety occupies but only a ten-mile deep band round this globe, from the stratosphere to the maximum depth of the sea. Infinite expanses of time and space and unknown forces spread around this band. In this context the history of mankind, immense as may appear its field to our race, is the story of only a very small section of Life on a minor planet of our solar system. And yet man has gone on looking on the Universe as a homocentric reality and, like an adolescent gradually awakening to the compelling curiosity about his lineage and heredity and the precise meaning of his relationship to his environment, he has gone on taking stock of everything that has entered the stream of his consciousness. Ever since the dewy dawn of intelligence attempts were made by him in ancient Egypt, China, Persia, Babylon, Assur, Chaldea, Greece and Rome, not to mention India, to correlate the functioning of his species to the Infinite Timeless by dipping as deep into his imagination as the progressive sum of his knowledge permitted him to do from time to time. Besides the large assemblage of books of history, and the histories of different subjects, huge collections of data excavated by archaeologists are still lying undecyphered in the antiquity museums of great universities, awaiting the attention of specialists. In the Middle Eastern Section of the Yale University alone I witnessed no less than 25,000 clay tablets dug out of the archaeological remains of Syria, Babylon and Chaldea on the decyphering of which may depend a fuller text of the ancient world of Egypt, Greece and Persia, and the Mesopotamian civilisations, whose relationship to ancient India, though dimly guessed, still remains shrouded in mystery. Again, the whole region known as Central Asia and, nearer home, Afghanistan, Baluchistan and Kashmir, known to the Ancients as Gandhara, Arachosia and Casperi, lie heavily masked under the dust of time, and research scholars and experts, numismaticians and philologists will take a long time yet to discover, assess and correlate the events and records of human activity hidden there to bring the history of different though kindred races into correct perspective. But whatever evidence has been made available even now makes it more or less obvious that India had become the clearing house of high philosophy, pivoted on man's relationship to the tangible and even imponderable forces and facets of all that we call Nature, long before the Greek intelligence registered its captivating efflorescence. All these facts are among the outstanding landmarks of human history. Curiously enough in all attempts from the Egyptian, Chaldean and Babylonian periods of deep thinking to our own Indo-Aryan era, there runs a close search for the secret and mysterious rhythm of life. This rhythm reveals itself in the inexorable law of birth, growth, climax, decay and disintegration; and man's intense and inextinguishable passion for immortality arises out of it. The last mentioned, though apparently deducible from the reintegration of every organic unit through its seeds, has persuaded man to aspire after individual mortality. These speculations more than any clear comprehension of the harder realities of life have influenced the behaviour of the human race as a whole in its pursuit of the will-o'-the-wisp of happiness. And across the entire field of man's adventure lie the dark and golden epochs of history. I am afraid I have strayed too far out from the definite and practical tasks which engage your attention, but I would beg you to bear with me just awhile.

"One hears these days a great deal about the integral reconstruction of human history, which is conceived as a connected story of human and non-human relationships. This is what I understand to be the fuller scope of history. I venture to suggest that as a method it has been pursued since the dawn of organised human intelligence and we find full evidence of it in the ancient records of religions. To take only the Hebrew and Indian scriptures, one finds a curious similarity of approach in the Genesis and the Puranas, both of which attempt to encompass the origin of this Universe and the human race as successive chapters of the same story. Quite obviously intelligent leaders of ancient thought in India, Babylon and Palestine could not think of human beings without first attempting to understand the origin of the complex world in which the human race was destined to function. According to Genesis in the Old Testament, which is really another version of the Egypto-Babylonian theory of the origin of the world, the Power behind this problematical Universe first created the world, and then Adam, and appointed this world as his heritage. According to the Puranic view again the eternal and infinite Creator brought the Universe into being and placed man right inside it to journey through various phases of Life to be reunited to the éver-abiding. I am summing up an extremely complex subject in my own inadequate way, and yet I am trying to see the unity of human imagination, thought and behaviour right through the cycle of ages.

"When H. G. Wells brought out his "Outline of History", his treatment of the subject proceeded along the same route, although in the light of the latest scientific discoveries he discarded the fruits of the Ancient's imagination and built up a scientifically integral concept of the Universe in which after reviewing all the stages of evolution he traced the origin of man and pursued his activities right down to his own time. This was a variation of the very theme to which I have referred already. But in it were converted dreams and visions, speculations and dubious theories into a scientifically co-ordinated chain of cosmic events. If we are to take a similar view of history it becomes the most comprehensive of scientific researches. There is no subject known to human intelligence which is not covered by it, and no line of human behaviour which can be overlooked. This view of the entire pageant of the Universe reveals some of the most fascinating rhythms of universal pulsation. In a deeper sense, the evolution of this world in each of its stages points to the emergence of a higher intelligence from time to time until man is born, who harnesses whatever he finds useful for his own activity and his own higher evolution to creative purposes. Individuals and even races, though appearing important at times, eventually fade into nothingness. Only the rhythm of certain kinds of activity and a quest after something higher continue to abide as the essence of all life. Whither we are going, what stars we are yet to pluck down from the firmament can only be dimly guessed by those who are privileged to rise above the petty urgencies of the moment and who can look deeper into the future from a detached point of observation. To other mortals such as I am it is not given to do more than to function as instruments of a social whole to perform certain duties according to our lights. And yet who would not like to know everything about every age of the past and compare the achievements of the past with those of the present and try to seek a reliable guide for the future? It is in this sense that history is of the utmost importance to the human race.

"In a brief inaugural speech I should not venture out too far, and after all I am but only a very humble student of history. The few ideas I have tried to encompass are the result of a fragmentary study of history, and my thirst for fuller knowledge is very far from being even partially satisfied.

"Coming now to the task which you have before you, I would not presume to say anything because it is a matter which belongs exclusively to your province. I may, however, say a word about the availability of records and their interpretation and preservation for the future. If I am not mistaken, some of the most valuable records which are necessary for a fuller comprehension of Indian history are safely lodged in various museums and libraries in Europe and the United States ; and particularly in the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris, the libraries and museums of Germany, and in London. How many of them are available in China and Central Asia, Tibet, Afghanistan, Persia and Egypt it is difficult to say; but there are innumerable records of very great value which are still scattered all over India and have yet to be recovered. How many of them have been lost none can estimate. Time, white-ants and damp have done their worst in many cases and have put valuable documents beyond recall. But copperplates, coins, inscriptions carbed in stone and wood are still to be found sometimes in undreamt of quarters in the interior of the country. I have myself come across quite a few during my tours in this Province, and I have wondered when it will be possible for the Central or the Provincial Government to initiate a drive for securing and preserving them. These are matters for your consideration, and I have no doubt that you will suggest ways and means of securing and preserving all such evidence. Although you deal with only a section of the data, required for compiling a truly unbiased and scientifically sifted history of India, a very great deal will depend on your efforts. Your task, therefore, is of a highly responsible nature. And now I must leave you to your own deliberations and declare this Session open."

After the inaugural speech of His Excellency, Secretary read out messages from His Excellency the Governor General, Hon'ble Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, ex-officio President of the Indian Historical Records Commission. Hon'ble B. G. Kher, Premier of Bombay, Hon'ble P. S. PROCEEDINGS OF THE FOURTEENTH MEETING OF THE RESEARCH AND PUBLICATION COMMITTEE, NEW DELHI,

2nd May, 1949.

1. Exemption of import duties on microfilm copies of records.

The scheme of "Post-War Reorganisation of Archives Offices in India" which has been approved in principle by the Government of India, envisages a comprehensive plan for obtaining microfilm copies of records, manuscripts, etc. relating to India from abroad. The preliminary task of collecting necessary information on the above subject from foreign countries has been taken up by the National Archives of India and a fair progress made. The attention of the Secretary has however been drawn by individual scholars to the difficulties being experienced by them in obtaining microfilm copies of records from abroad as these are subjected to heavy customs duty at Indian ports. The object of having microfilm copies instead of typed copies of documents from abroad is obviously to reduce to the minimum the delay in reproduction, the cost of reproduction, the cost of transport, etc. These are neither works of art, nor are required for commercial purposes. As these copies of records are required purely for bonafide research purposes, it is desirable that the microfilm copies of documents and rare books whether obtained by Governments or individuals should be excluded from customs duty at Indian ports on production of a certificate from the Central or the provincial Governments to the effect that they are required for educational purposes.

Resolution I.—This Committee recommends to the Government of India that all imports of microfilm copies of official documents, historical manuscripts and rare books from abroad should be exempted from normal customs duty at the ports.

2. Resolution by Professor D. V. Potdar on the transfer to the National Archives of India of all Farmans, Sanads, etc., in the possession of Archaeological Museums of India.

Resolved that documents such as farmans, Sanads, etc. found exhibited in some of the Archaeological Museums e.g. Delhi, Bijapur, should be transferred to the National Archives of India, Government of India.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.—Since the National Archives is a separate and independent department of the Government of India and since documents noted above properly form part of Archives proper they should go to the National Archives. The Department of Archaeology deals with other matters. The fields of the two department could be clearly demarcated. Both should work in close co-operation and yet we must avoid unscientific distribution. Hence the Government of India must give careful consideration to the question and formulate its decisions accordingly.

Professor Potdar, Dr. Joshi, the Chairman. Dr. Sinha, Professor Srinivasachari and the Secretary participated in the discussion which followed the formal moving of the resolution. It was finally resolved :

Resolution II.—That this Committee recommends that all documents (papers and manuscripts of a date subsequent to A. D. 1600, which are now in the possession of the Archaeological Department and different Museums, should be transferred to the National Archives of India.

3. Resolution by Mr. G. S. Das on the establishment of Central Record Offices in the provinces and States.

Resolved that in view of the simplification of political map of India necessity of preserving old documents of historical value in private or Government possession, the provincial Governments and the Governments of the Unions of the Dominion of India should be advised by the Dominion Government of India to start organised Records Departments in each province or Union of States within a given time limit of two years from the passing of this resolution with a view to collecting and preserving historical documents and starting Research and Publication and Regional Survey Committees.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.—The question of creating organised Records Departments in different provinces and States was stressed in a previously passed resolution of the Indian Historical Records Commission some time ago but the question was shelved by the provincial governments on the plea of conserving their energy during the last war. Now that the war has come to an end and reconstruction of various schemes and departments are being planned the question of organising separate organised Records Departments after the model of the Government of India should be taken up by provincial governments and Union Governments. Only the Government of Madras has a Records Department worth the name where valuable work is being done. It is time for the provincial governments to start and organise provincial Records Departments.

SECRETARY'S NOTE.—The Indian Historical Records Commission since its inception has passed resolutions almost every year on the establishment of Central Record Offices in the provinces as well as in the States. There are Record Offices at present in Madras, Bombay, West Bengal and East Punjab and in the States of Hyderabad, Baroda, Cochin and Patiala and East Punjab States Union. The Government of United Provinces have, it is understood, decided to establish a Record office for the province.

The following resolution was adopted :—

Resolution III.—This Committee reiterates its previous recommendations and requests the provincial governments to expedite the establishment of organised records offices in their respective provinces if they have not already done so.

4. Proposal of Mr. K. C. Panigrahi (forwarded by the Utkal University) on exchange of records between the provinces on linguistic basis.

In order to facilitate the compilation of the histories of different linguistic provinces and Unions in India, it is necessary that the record written in Indian languages and scripts should be exchanged among the different offices of provincial archives in India, so that a linguistic province or Union will get the advantage of possessing all the records written in the language and script of that province or Union.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.—The import of the resolution is quite plain. A record written in Tamil can be better utilised in the province of Madras than in the province of West Bengal, and so if such a record has somehow been possessed by the provincial archives of West Bengal, it is better that it should be sent to Madras. If there be any technical difficulty in transferring the originals of such records their photographs should at least be exchanged.

SECRETARY'S NOTE.—Such an exchange of documents will not be of practical utility. Documents, torn from their related papers, lose in meaning and significance. For example, a letter in Tamil written to the Government of West Bengal on which the latter takes action becomes part of a file which, taken as a whole, tells a story. The letter by itself will give no indication of the action taken on it, and the related papers without the letter will also be incomplete for research and reference purposes.

In view of the fact that copies of documents could always be exchanged between different provinces and between the Provinces and the Central Government, Mr. Panigrahi withdrew the proposal.

5. Resolution by Professor D. V. Potdar on the safe custody and preservation of records in the States.

Resolved that the Government of India be urged to take suitable steps immediately for the safe custody and proper preservation of records lately in possession of the various Indian States. The Director of National Archives may be given all necessary facilities for this purpose and be requested to submit his report to the Indian Historical Records Commission at an early date.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.—It is a matter of great satisfaction that the Indian States have now acceded to the Government of the Indian Union while fairly large number of smaller States or Jagirdaris have been by now merged into the Indian Union and others are on their way to merge. In some cases they have been integrated into Unions of their own under the Indian Union.

There is no doubt that many of these States have in their possession very valuable historical records. These precious store-houses have so far been lying in most cases in a neglected condition. Unless immediate steps are taken for their safe custody and proper preservation under expert supervision they are likely to be exposed to further decay and destruction. Especially during the transitional period this fear may prove even more real and the loss to history may prove irreparable. The Ministry of States and other appropriate authorities who may have to deal with these records should therefore be moved to take all necessary steps in the matter.

Resolution IV.—Resolved that the Government of India be urged to take suitable steps immediately for the safe custody and proper preservation of records lately in possession of the various Indian States. The Director of National Archives may be given all necessary facilities for this purpose and be requested to submit his report to the Indian Historical Records Commission at an early date.

6. Any other subject that may be brought before the Committee.

Professor Srinivasachari informed the Committee that the Madras Government had set up a permanent Regional Records Survey Committee ; but since this Committee had decided to limit its activities only to the salvaging of documents, Professor Srinivasachari proposed that the ad hoc Committee set up by the Indian Historical Records Commission should continue to function in order to cover the remaining items of its activities as recommended by the Research and Publication Committee from time to time. After some discussion it was agreed that with the establishment of a permanent Committee the ad hoc Committee automatically ceased to exist. The Madras Government would however be requested to ask their Committee to take over all the activities of the ad hoc Committee.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chair.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE FIFTEENTH MEETING OF THE RESEARCH AND PUBLICATION COMMITTEE,
25th December, 1949, Cuttack.

The fifteenth meeting of the Research and Publication Committee was held at the Physics Lecture Theatre of Ravenshaw College, Cuttack, at 10 A. M. on Sunday, December 25, 1949. In the absence of Dr. Tara Chand, ex-officio Chairman of the Committee, Dr. R. C. Majumdar was elected to the Chair. A list of members who were present is appended with the proceedings of the Public Meeting.

1. Review of action taken on the resolutions of the fourteenth and some previous meetings of the Research and Publication Committee.

(Please see conspectus)

Dr. N. K. Sinha drew attention to Resolution VII of the ninth meeting and inquired if anything had been done towards the indexing and cataloguing of the Tanjore Raj records.

Professor C. S. Srinivasachari informed that practically nothing had been done. However, the Government of Madras was looking into the matter and recently some money grant had been made to the Tanjore Maharaja Serfoji's Saraswati Mahal Library which indicated the Madras Government's interest in manuscripts generally.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad said that a private library was not a suitable repository for records like the Tanjore Raj records.

Professor C. S. Srinivasachari said that it was being proposed to keep those records in the Collectorate office of Tanjore, but so far no steps had been taken towards the actual transfer of the records there. He undertook to inquire into the matter.

Dr. S. N. Sen explained the position vis-a-vis the Government of India who claimed the records as belonging to the Central Government. Provision had been made for the inspection of those records by the Curator of the Madras Record Office, and the Government of India had undertaken to provide the money required for their rehabilitation, proper preservation and indexing, etc.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad suggested that the Government of India should take over those records bodily and place them either in the National Archives of India or in some other official depository like the Madras Record Office.

The Chairman said that the Commission should accept the Madras Government's stand in the matter, but press for the cataloguing, indexing, etc. of these records.

Professor D. V. Potdar gave further information. His help had been sought in deciphering the records written in Modi. Towards that end he had asked to see the records himself, but he did not know what further action had been taken.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad again pressed the point that even the Collectorate Office might not be a suitable place for depositing those records. He suggested that the Secretary of the Commission should go to Tanjore examine the position and recommend the place where the records should be deposited.

Dr. P. M. Joshi inquired if those records could be readily microfilmed.

Professor D.V. Potdar pointed out that the bulk of those records did not make straight microfilming advisable, and that a selection would have to be made before they could be microfilmed. He generally supported Dr. Prasad as to the location of those records.

Professor C.S. Srinivasachari said that the records belonged and pertained to the Tanjore State and they should be located where they were most likely to be used. He also pointed out the difficulty in finding locally scholars knowing Modi.

The following resolution was then moved by the Chair : —

Resolution I.—While agreeing with the Madras Government that the Tanjore Raj records could not be placed under the care and custody of a private library, this Committee recommends that the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission ; Professor D.V. Potdar ; Convener, Madras Regional Records Survey Committee ; and Dr. P.M. Joshi (if deputed by the Government of Bombay), should inspect the records with a view to suggesting a suitable place for their location and steps to be taken for their preservation and utilization.

The resolution was unanimously passed.

Dr. N. K. Sinha drew attention to Resolution VIII of the tenth meeting and Resolution III of the twelfth meeting, and suggested that reminders may be sent to the Provincial Governments and States. The suggestion was accepted.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad referred to Resolution IV of the tenth meeting and urged early legislation on records.

Dr. S. N. Sen referred to the revised Ancient Monuments Act which now prevented the export of records more than 100 years old. He pointed out the inadequacy of this legislation as records less than 100 years old were outside its scope, and also because it left out of account such problems as the destruction and dispersal of records. The following resolution was then moved by the Chairman and passed unanimously.

Resolution II.—This Committee again draws the attention of the Government of India to its previous resolutions [Resolution VII of the nineteenth Session of the Indian Historical Records Commission and Resolution IV of the ninth meeting and Resolution IV(1) of the tenth meeting of the Research & Publication Committee] and urges early action in the matter.

Dr Bisheshwar Prasad drew attention to Resolution IV of the tenth meeting. He referred to the Secretary's remarks against the inquiry by the Government of West Bengal and inquired to what extent the Government of India's own records had been surveyed.

The Secretary informed the Committee that information was being collected from the various Ministries of the Government of India and their attached and subordinate offices in connection with estimating the additional shelf space required by the National Archives of India, which also would give the information sought by Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad. The information was gradually coming in, although perhaps not as fast as would be desirable nor always in the form required. In such cases reminders were sent and supplementary information gathered. The process was not complete yet and was continuing.

2. Review of progress made in the Publication Programme.

(A) Indian Records Series

Scheme I.—Volume V of the Fort William—India House Correspondence is in the Press and is expected to be published before the end of the current year. Volume I of this series will be shortly sent to the Press. Dr. Y.J. Taraporewala has completed the editing of Volume XVII and has been paid the honorarium for the same. Father H. Heras has intimated that he will complete his work before March 1950. The other editors have not sent any reports regarding the progress of their work.

Scheme II.—The Indian Travels of Thevenot and Careri has come out of the Press and has been issued for sale. A copy was laid on the table.

(B) Records in Oriental Languages

Scheme III (A).—No progress has been made regarding the publication of the Punjab Akhbars and the Hindi documents. Facsimile copies of the Tamil documents have been supplied to the Annamalai University and Professor C.S. Srinivasachari is editing the volume on its behalf.

(C) Selections from English Records

Scheme III(B).—The Annamalai University is making arrangements for the printing of Selection from the Orme Manuscripts, the editing of which has already been completed.

The Chairman requested Dr. S.N. Sen to report on the progress of the Publication Programme.

Dr. S. N. Sen said that progress had been very slow for which he could put forward certain specific reasons. They were, in the first place, technical difficulties raised by different departments of the Government of India themselves. For instance, normally all Government publications were to be printed at the Government of India presses, but the latter were either overworked or inadequately equipped for the type of work required for the Publication Programme. It was necessary therefore to entrust the job to private presses, for which prior permission had to be secured from the Controller of Printing. Further, financial sanction for the publication of each volume had to be secured. General permission on both these counts had been sought but refused on administrative grounds. Again, even where permission had been received to get the printing done by a private press and the financial sanction obtained, the presses themselves were reluctant to undertake the job as long as the general governmental system of payment was insisted on. Their complaint was that it was inordinately complicated and invariably caused delay in payment which they could not afford.

The second cause of delay lay with the Editors of the Volumes themselves. They were invariably behind the schedule, sometimes very far behind, with the result that instead of the edited volumes coming in at regular intervals, the few volumes that had been edited came in to the General Editor all at once. The finishing work which was to be done by the General Editor has thus caused a bottleneck. This finishing work had further been increased owing to the need of checking the work of the Editors and making them of uniform quality, which could have been avoided if the Editors were a little more careful about their work. All this work carried out by the General Editor in his office (National Archives of India) had been further hampered by the inadequacy of the staff in that office. This had resulted in that staff not being able at all to undertake the work of editing of volumes due to be done at the National Archives itself. The institutions which had undertaken to bring out individual volumes of Oriental records had also lagged very much behind.

With reference to the Oriental records, Dr Sen said that transcripts of Persian Akhbars, to be edited and published by the University of Delhi, had been given to the previous member from that University. The latter had moved to Pakistan after losing all his property in Delhi and what happened to those transcripts was not known. Dr Sen added that if fresh transcripts were provided to the University of Delhi, the latter would now take up their editing and publication.

Professor D. V. Potdar said that the Government of India should take more interest towards the publication of the records in Oriental languages by subsidizing them in the same manner as they had subsidized the publication of the English records.

Dr Bisheshwar Prasad said that seeing how slow progress generally was in all publication schemes in the country, what had been done towards the Publication Programme of the Commission was commendable.

The Chairman pointed out that all things said and done the conclusion was inescapable that progress in the Publication Programme had been very slow. He suggested that the Secretary of the Commission should draw up a detailed memorandum explaining the causes of the delay and lay the memorandum before the Committee at its next meeting. In the meantime individual editors and institutions were to be informed that they should complete their work respectively by the end of 1951 and 1952 at the latest or return the scripts to the General Editor.

3. Survey of Records.

A review of the activities of the Regional Records Survey Committees in the provinces was placed before the eleventh meeting of the Research and Publication Committee held at Jaipur in February 1948. Annual reports of some of the Committees in the provinces and States will be found in the Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings Volume XXIV and Volume XXV, Part I.

The political changes in the country resulted into consequent changes in the set up of some of the provincial Committees. The Committee for the North-West Frontier Province which was functioning under the Indian Historical Records Commission has gone out of it, whereas Sind which was under the jurisdiction of the Committee for Bombay has naturally seceded from it. Similarly East Bengal which was formerly under the territorial jurisdiction of the Committee for Bengal and Assam has seceded from the Committee of West Bengal, which has been reconstituted. The Research and Publication Committee will however be glad to know that the Government of East Punjab has set up a permanent Survey Committee of its own.

In response to Resolution VI of the 8th meeting of the Research and Publication Committee the Government of Madras have set up their own permanent Survey Committee and Assam have agreed to do so as soon as financial position improves. The composition of the Committees will be found in the conspectus. The Government of Central Provinces and Berar is also considering the question of appointment of a permanent Committee. It is hoped that other provinces will follow suit.

(i) Financial grant.—The Government of India grant-in-aid to the Regional Records Survey Committees in the provinces for the year 1949-50 amounted to Rs. 6,500 only. The grant for the current year has been distributed to only six Committees, Madras having set up their own Committee and the Committee for Bombay having been unable to utilise the grant in the past year. During the year under review some of the Survey Committees did very useful work and brought to light many valuable historical manuscripts and documents some of which were purchased by them. All these manuscripts or copies thereof, have been transferred to the National Archives of India for custody. The Delhi Committee has also purchased twenty-seven historical manuscripts, which are now being examined by it.

(ii) Account of Expenditure.—It may be mentioned in this connection that the accounts of expenditure incurred by the Committees out of the Government grant are not in most cases received in time. Attention of the members are invited in this connection to Resolution V of the 11th meeting of the Research & Publication Committee (I.H.R.C. Procs. Vol. XXIV, Part III, p. 140) and the Conveners of the Committees are requested to submit their half-yearly accounts in time and in proper form for audit purposes.

(iii) Publicity through Radio and Press.—As suggested by the Research and Publication Committee at its eleventh meeting, the Secretary moved the authorities of the All-India Radio and the Press Information Bureau of the Government of India to extend necessary facilities to the Regional Records Survey Committees for publicising their activities as in the past. Accordingly as many as 17 talks were delivered by the members of the various provincial Committees from the various stations of the All-India Radio between October-December 1948. These include nine talks in English, Tamil and Telugu from Madras and Trichinopoly ; three from Cuttack in Oriya ; three from Nagpur in English, Marathi and Hindi ; and one each from Lucknow and Patna in Hindi.

About publicity through Press, the Regional Records Survey Committee for East Punjab published a series of articles on their survey work through the newspapers. No material worth publication was however received by the Secretary of the Commission from other Survey Committees.

(iv) Annual Reports.—All the previous annual reports from the Regional Records Survey Committees in the Provinces and the States have been published in the Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings Volume XXV, Part I. During the current year fresh reports have been received only from the Committees in West Bengal, United Provinces and Madras. As without these reports no estimate of work done in the field can be made, the Conveners may be requested to send them regularly.

Dr. N.K. Sinha said that the grants for the Regional Records Survey Committees were as a rule received very late for anything substantial to be spent by the time the first half-yearly accounts were due. He inquired whether any useful purpose would be served in accounting for a very small sum of money.

The Secretary pointed out that for uniform and proper accounting half-yearly accounts were essential, even though the sum involved was small. In case nothing was spent, a nil return should be made which was required for auditing purposes. The following resolution was then passed :

Resolution III.—This Committee urges on all the Regional Records Survey Committees which have not submitted their accounts to do so without any further delay.

4. Resolution by Mr. B. V. Bhat on the maintenance of records of the "defunct" States.

That the Government of India be requested to ask the provincial Governments and States Unions to take immediate steps properly to house and preserve the records of the defunct States within their respective jurisdictions.

Explanatory Note.—The importance of the resolution is self-explanatory. The archives of all the Indian States, which have either merged with the provinces or have formed into Unions contain valuable materials bearing on the history of India from 1200 A.D. down to present time. The Jaipur State records which are now accessible to research scholars, have revealed a mass of valuable records which will be of great use to the students of history.

Secretary's Note.—A similar resolution (Resolution IV) was passed by the Research and Publication Committee at its fourteenth meeting held at New Delhi in May 1949. The resolution has been circulated by the Government of India to all the provincial Governments and Unions of States with a request to preserve and maintain the integrity of the records in question.

5. Resolution forwarded by the Rajputana University regarding classification and rearrangement of records under the Unions of States.

That the various Unions of States be requested kindly to reclassify and rearrange their archives on proper lines so as to make them useful for research reference and throw them open to scholars.

These two items being related were taken up together. Mr. G. H. Khare related his experience with regard to the Jaipur records where he was not permitted to take any notes from the records he was allowed to examine. He inquired if any steps had been taken towards organizing the records of defunct States like Jaipur and opening them for research.

The Secretary informed that conditions in the defunct States was still fluid, and until they were stabilized nothing definite could be said about them. His private information was that some steps were being taken to organize the records of Union of Rajasthan on which he had been consulted in a private capacity, but he was unaware of the actual details or the progress made.

The following resolution was then unanimously passed:

Resolution IV.—Resolved that the Government of India be requested to ask the provincial Governments and States Unions to take immediate steps properly to house and preserve the records of the defunct States within their respective jurisdictions, and to arrange their archives on proper lines so as to make them useful for research purposes, and to throw them open to scholars.

6. Resolution forwarded by the Calcutta University regarding throwing open of Central Government records.

That the records of the Government of India down to the year 1935 should be thrown open for examination and use by bona fide historical research workers.

Explanatory Note.—Now that British rule over India has ended, there is no reason why these records should not be thrown open for historical researches.

Secretary's Note.—In pursuance of Resolution III of the ninth meeting and Resolution XIII of the eleventh meeting of the Research and Publication Committee, the Government of India have in March 1949 declared all their ordinary and confidential records up to 1901 open for bona fide research. The National Archives of India (Historical) Research Rules have accordingly been modified and the revised rules which are now in press will be circulated as soon as these are printed. The proposal to throw open records of further 35 years cannot be entertained unless additional storage space is provided. The National Archives of India is already facing serious difficulties owing to shortage of accommodation.

Dr N. K. Sinha formally moved the resolution forwarded by the University of Calcutta.

-The Secretary pointed out that it would be against public policy to throw open generally very recent records, and no Government could agree to such a proposal. However even the latest records were open for research by individual scholars with the permission of the Ministry concerned.

The resolution was withdrawn.

7. Note by Dr. P. M. Joshi on the acquisition of records relating to India from the National Archives, U.S.A. (forwarded by the Government of Bombay).

Reference Information Circular No. 38 of the National Archives, U.S.A., contains an interesting article by P. Basu giving information about materials in the U.S.A. Archives relating to India. The records relate to economic and commercial affairs of India from 1792 onwards. They arise out of report of the United States Consuls in India. The U.S. Consuls in India were not interested in commerce alone. They did political and other reporting as well. Their records contain interesting information about agriculture, irrigation, forest, trade, public health, military problems and political situation in India and should prove a collection of great interest. An attempt should be made to acquire copies of the more important of these records.

On page 3 of the bulletin there is one item of special interest for the Province of Bombay. They are the records from the U.S. Consul for Bombay for 1855-1922. Microfilm copies of these records may be obtained for this Government.

Secretary's Note.—On an earlier recommendation a scheme had been prepared to obtain microfilm copies of records relating to India from abroad. The Government of India have been pleased to sanction a sum of Rs. 50,000 for this purpose. As to records of special interest to the province of Bombay referred to by Dr. Joshi, it would be advisable for the Bombay Government to approach the U.S. National Archives for copy.

Dr P. M. Joshi informed that the Bombay Government had since taken action as suggested in the Secretary's note.

The meeting then concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chair.

4. The Chief Commissioner, Himachal Pradesh, has informed that the Administration is collecting lists of historical records available in the districts. So far as is known no such records are lying uncared for in Himachal Pradesh in private custody. It will, therefore, serve no useful purpose for the present to set up a Regional Survey Committee in the province.

5. The Government of Bombay have informed that the question of establishing a Historical and Ancient Monuments Council is under their consideration. (Please see also the remarks against Resolution VIII of tenth meeting and Resolution II of the 13th meeting of the R and P Committee).

6. The Government of Cochin (late) have suggested that a common committee for Cochin, Travancore and Malabar appears to be the best course.

7. The Government of Tripura have informed that the question of setting up a Regional Survey Committee in the State will be considered after preliminary survey has been made with a view to ascertaining if and to what extent records and materials of historic interest exist in the Tripura State. Steps to this end are being taken.

8. The Government of Travancore (late) have informed that a Regional Committee was constituted in October 1944 consisting of Mr. V. Rangacharya, Professor of History, University College, Trivandrum, Mr. Sooranand P. N. Kunjan Pillai, Superintendent, Huzur Central Records and Mr. R. Vasudeva Poduval, Director of Archaeology for the collection of manuscripts in private custody, etc. Professor Rangacharya has since resigned his appointment and Mr. R. Vasudeva Poduval has retired from service. The Committee has thus become defunct. The question of re-constituting the Committee will be taken up as soon as the vacant Professorship in History in the University College and the post of Director of Archaeology are filled up.

9. The Government of Cooch Behar (late) have informed that the State Durbar are in favour of Regional Committees being set up in the States. The Durbar, however, consider it desirable that while setting up such Committees a State should be allowed to have one or two of its nominees on the Committee.

10. The Manipur State (late) have informed that they did not wish to set up a permanent Regional Committee at present.

11. The Rampur State have set up a Regional Committee for the survey of historical records under the Presidentship of their Political Minister.

12. The Chief Commissioner, Coorg, has informed, that since there are not many historical records in the province, there is no need to set up a permanent Regional Survey Committee for Coorg.

Ninth Meeting, Indore, December, 1946

Resolution VII.—(a) This Committee appreciates the services of the Collector of Tanjore, Mr. T. S. Ramachandran, Mr. K. R. Srinivasan and the Honorary Secretary, Tanjore Saraswati Mahal Library in rescuing the Tanjore records from destruction and conveys its thanks to those gentlemen.

(b) The Committee also recommends that these records should be moved to the custody of the Tanjore Saraswati Mahal Library.

(c) The Committee further recommends that an adequate grant be made for indexing and cataloguing these records and that the Madras Government consider the matter sympathetically.

The Madras Government consider that the dual responsibility over the records in question, suggested in the resolution is not feasible. Once the records are transferred to a non-official body like the Tanjore Saraswati Mahal Library, neither the Collector of Tanjore nor the Curator, Madras Record Office can be expected to exercise any effective control over their safe custody and maintenance. The Madras Government also cannot be held responsible for any theft or loss of the records if these are under the care and custody of private library where they will be accessible to the public.

The Tanjore collections are Government records and are not "Manuscripts" of mere historical or literary value. Being mostly records of administrative value, they cannot be kept in a public library and thrown open for research work indiscriminately, as such a course might lead to litigation, affect public interest or embarrass the Government.

Of the two public libraries in the Province to which these records could be transferred, the Curator, Madras Record Office, who is the expert adviser of this Government on the subject, the Collector of Tanjore and the Board of Revenue all are opposed to their transfer to the Saraswati Mahal Library.

The provincial Government therefore requests the Government of India to reconsider their decision.

Secretary's Remarks.—Please see in this connection Resolution I passed by the Indian Historical Records Commission at its 25th session held at Delhi in December 1948 (Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings Volume XXV, Part I), and also conspectus of action taken by the Government of India.

Tenth Meeting, New Delhi, March 1947

Resolution IV.—This Committee views with grave concern the extremely unsatisfactory state in which the bulk of the records and historical manuscripts in India are lying, and the risks of destruction and dispersal to which they are exposed due mainly to the ignorance on the part of the public of their value as evidences for history and is firmly convinced that the major portion of these invaluable treasures will be lost to the nation unless adequate steps are immediately taken for their preservation. The Committee believes that many of these risks can be eliminated by (1) the enactment of a comprehensive public records legislation for the preservation of all records of national value ; (2) by the establishment of properly organised and staffed repositories all over the country to house records which still require a suitable shelter, and education of their present custodians and owners in the principles of archives keeping ; (3) making provision for technical services (such as repair, photographing, indexing, cataloguing, etc.) in such repositories as may be unable to organise these services for themselves ; (4) organisation of research facilities at these repositories for approved students and (5) establishment of a system of control on the administration of these records by a suitable central organisation. The Committee further believes that as a preliminary step to the above it will be necessary to compile a register containing complete information regarding all records in India whether in public, semi-public, private or institutional custody. It therefore makes the following recommendations :—

- (i) That the Secretary, Research and Publication Committee, be entrusted with the compilation of such a Register, to be called the National Register of records and historical manuscripts, with the help of the Regional Survey Committees in the provinces and the States ;
- (ii) that the latter bodies be instructed to concentrate on the work of the compilation of the materials for the register to the exclusion of all other items of work they may have taken up or intend to take up in the near future ;
- (iii) that information collected be entered in the pro forma approved by this Committee (annexed hereto) a separate form being used for each collection, series, group or 'fonds' of records or historical manuscripts surveyed, that the completed form be forwarded to the Secretary, Research and Publication Committee, for consolidation with similar forms received from elsewhere copies being retained by the Regional Committees in the form of a Register for a reference purpose, with up-to-date indexes, duplicates of which should be furnished to the Secretary of the Committee, and that the Registers whether at the Centre or in the provinces be made available to accredited scholars ;
- (iv) that the provincial Governments and the States and through them the authorities of the Divisions, Districts, Sub-divisions, Circles and other administrative units, High Courts and other Trusts, Councils and similar organisations set up by the provincial or State Governments or under their auspices, learned societies, Universities, educational institutions, religious establishments, libraries, museums and all public and semi-public institutions situated within the territorial limits of the provinces and the States, be asked to co-operate fully with the Regional Committees in compiling the Register by extending to them financial help and according them unrestricted facilities for inspection of the records under their control ;

- (v) the Regional Survey Committees be further asked to exclude from their immediate programme the contents of the organised Records Offices and concentrate on such records in semi-public, institutional and private custody and such public records as are yet to be organised ;
- (vi) that the provincial Governments and the States having organised record offices of their own be asked to furnish the requisite information in respect of their collections direct to the Secretary, Research and Publication Committee, in the approved form copies being sent to the Regional Survey Committees functioning in the provinces of the States as the case may be ;
- (vii) that the Government of India afford such financial and other facilities to the Secretary, Research and Publication Committee (in printing instruction sheets, relevant proformas, and any other matter) that may be considered to be necessary in connection with the compilation of the Register ;
- (viii) that to accord this scheme the widest possible publicity the resolution be published in the Gazette of India, that the Press Information Bureau be asked to issue a press note on the subject for publication in leading newspapers and periodicals and that All-India Radio be asked to arrange for a series of educational talks explaining the implications of the project. The Committee hereby authorises its Secretary to issue directives for the guidance of the Regional Survey Committees and to ask for annual reports of the work done in this connection.

1. The Travancore Government (late) have informed that they will be glad to render all possible help and co-operation in the compilation of the National Register of Records, etc.

2. The Government of West Bengal have said that the matter is under their consideration and ask for information on what the Government of India propose to do about their own records. They further ask the Government of India to get them informed as to the nature and extent of the financial aid they are expected to give to the regional Records Offices in this connection.

Secretary's Remarks.—A reply has been sent to the Government of West Bengal intimating that steps are being taken for compiling complete information regarding records in the custody of the various Ministries of the Government of India and their attached and subordinate offices.

3. The Manipur State (late) have informed that they were willing to help the Government of India in all possible ways and desired that the Chief Minister or the Dewan should be asked for permission whenever any records in that State were considered necessary to be transcribed by anybody to help the Survey Committee.

4. The Government of Orissa have informed that they will give all possible help to the Regional Survey Committee in the province in carrying through the programme of compilation of a National Register of Records and Historical Manuscripts.

Resolution VIII.—This Committee (further) recommends that the provincial and States Governments be requested to give on the basis of the recommendations of the Regional Survey Committees in their areas, free transcripts of records in their custody to those who may help the Survey Committees in their quest for historical records, if such transcripts are wanted for local or family history.

1. The Government of Travancore (late) have informed that they will be glad to render all possible assistance to those who may help the Regional Survey Committee in their quest for historical records as and when a requisition is received.

2. The Government of West Bengal have informed that the matter is under their consideration.

3. The Government of Bombay have informed that no Regional Survey Committee exists in the province but a Provincial Records Council is proposed to be set up which will do work similar to that done by the Regional Survey Committees in other provinces. The provincial Government will implement the recommendation of the Research and Publication Committee through this council which will seek to utilise the services of all persons interested in historical research. At present students are not charged anything for taking extracts from records either in the Secretariat Record

Office, Bombay or the Alienation Office, Poona. Facilities for studying material at both the Offices will be given to all persons connected with the Provincial Records Council on the same conditions as obtain for the general student. Search for material required by such workers will be conducted by them and any transcripts that they may require will be allowed to them.

Secretary's Remarks.—(Please see remarks against Resolution VI of eighth meeting and Resolution II of 13th meeting also.) An ad hoc Regional Records Survey Committee, set up by the Indian Historical Records Commission according to Resolution V of the third meeting of the Research and Publication Committee, is in existence in Bombay since 1943. Please see conspectus page 111, Part III, IHRC Procs. Vol. XXI.

Eleventh Meeting, Jaipur, February 1949

Resolution XII.—That the Government of India and the Mahatma Gandhi Memorial Committee be requested to transfer all the original writings of Mahatma Gandhi and records relating to him to the custody of the National Archives of India for preservation.

Note.—Please see remarks against Resolution II of the twenty-fourth session of the Indian Historical Records Commission.

Twelfth Meeting,—New Delhi, July 1949

Resolution I.—This Committee recommends that the Local Records Sub-Committee be reconstituted as follows :—

- (1) Educational Adviser to the Government of India, ex-officio Chairman.
- (2) A nominee of the Ministry of Home Affairs (preferably a Deputy Secretary of that Ministry).
- (3) A member co-opted by the Chairman for one year.
- (4) Director of Archives, Government of India, ex-officio Secretary, and if a member was available at Delhi for the entire period of three years for which the Sub-Committee is ordinarily appointed, he may be co-opted.

The Government of India have accepted the resolution and the revised constitution has been published in the Gazette of India. Please see Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings, Volume XXV, Part I, Appendix C.

Resolution II.—This Committee fully endorses the Resolution of the Sub-Committee on the conservation of records under a unified central control and recommends to the Government of India that suitable action be taken as soon as possible.

The Government of India have circulated the resolution together with the minutes of the Sub-Committee and Resolution IV of the twenty-third session of the Indian Historical Records Commission to all the provincial Governments and the States.

For replies from the provincial Governments and the States, please see the Conspectus of the I.H.R.C., Resolution IV of the 23rd session.

Resolution III.—This Committee recommends that all the non-current District, Divisional and Sub-Divisional records should be centralised at the provincial headquarters under a unified control directly under the provincial Governments for better preservation and historical research. It is further recommended that an annual report on the progress achieved in this respect may be submitted to the Indian Historical Records Commission for information.

Forwarded by the Government of India to all the provincial Governments, States and Unions of States.

The Government of East Punjab have informed that they have accepted the Resolution and action has already been taken to implement the same.

The Government of Bombay have stated that the question of centralisation of the non-current District, Divisional and Sub-Divisional records at the provincial headquarters is receiving their attention.

The Burada State (late) have informed that they have already concentrated all their district records up to the year 1884 in their Central Records.

The Chief Commissioner, Delhi, has informed that Delhi till 1911 formed part of the Ambala District and that the district records of historical value up to that year, if any, should be in the office of the Commissioner, Ambala Division. There are at present no historical records in the District Offices.

Resolution IV.—Resolved that the provincial Governments be requested to follow the international practice in the appropriation by or allotment of records to seceding territories.

Note.—The resolution together with a note prepared by the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission on the "International Practice on the effect of change of Sovereignty on records" was forwarded by the Government of India to all the provincial Governments.

The Government of Assam was requested specially to re-open the question of partition of Central Government records with the Government of East Pakistan de novo on lines similar to those followed by the Government of West Bengal.

The Government of Assam have informed that no records of the late Crown Representative or of the Central Government have been partitioned or transferred to the Government of East Bengal. Records of the provincial Government which purely relate to the portion of Sylhet district have been separated and transferred to the Government of East Bengal and those which are of common interest or relate to other districts of the Province have been duplicated and the duplicate copies were transferred to that Government only.

Resolution V.—This Committee approves of the recommendation made by the Sub-Committee appointed by the Government of India to formulate a five-year plan of work for survey of historical documents in the country and urges upon the Government of India to give effect to this recommendation as soon as possible.

The proposal is under the consideration of the Government of India.

(For replies of the provincial Governments and States on the proposed compilation of the "National Register" please see reply against Resolution IV of the 10th meeting of the Research & Publication Committee).

Resolution VI.—This Committee recommends that the Historical Section of the Defence Ministry may be represented on the Indian Historical Records Commission.

The Government of India have accepted the recommendation and Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad, Director, Combined Inter-Services Historical Section, has been appointed an Associate member of the Commission.

Item 12 of the proceedings regarding publication of all the past resolutions of the Commission in a consolidated form.

A Souvenir Volume entitled "Indian Historical Records Commission—A Retrospect" containing the history of the Indian Historical Records Commission and the National Archives of India since their inception was published during the Silver Jubilee Session of the Commission and distributed to all the members and others. Another volume containing the past resolutions of the Indian Historical Records Commission, the Research and Publication Committee and the Local Records Sub-Committee has also been published and distributed to all the members, provincial Governments, States, etc.

Resolution I.—This Committee requests scholars, archivists and others engaged in research among archives to bring to the notice of the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, interesting and new subjects which they come across in the course of their researches and upon which they find sufficient materials among the archives, in order that a list of such subjects may be published in the Annual Proceedings Volumes of the Indian Historical Records Commission for helping research students in the selection of suitable subjects for their thesis.

The Government of India has accepted the Resolution subject to the modification that the information on the subject should be published in the INDIAN ARCHIVES instead of in the Proceedings of the Indian Historical Records Commission.

1. The Chief Commissioner, Himachal Pradesh, has instructed all the Deputy Commissioners to request scholars and archivists in each District who are engaged in research to bring to the notice of the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, interesting and new subjects which they might come across in the course of their researches.

2. The Chief Commissioner, Coorg, has informed that there are no research scholars engaged in archival research work in Coorg and therefore no action was considered necessary on the resolution by the Administration.

3. The Madras Government have informed that the Curator, Madras Records Office, has been asked to communicate to the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, direct any new and interesting subjects for research which he might come across in the course of his research. The resolution has also been forwarded to the Universities in the province for necessary action on a suggestion from the Curator of the Record Office.

4. The United Provinces Government have informed that copies of the resolution have been forwarded to the different Universities and learned institutions in the province for their information and necessary action.

5. The East Punjab Government have conveyed their acceptance of the resolution and have directed their Keeper of Records to bring to the notice of the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, interesting and new subjects suitable for research whenever he comes across them.

6. The Government of Bombay have informed that interesting topics which the Director of Archives, Bombay, and his staff come across in the course of their work will be communicated to the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission.

7. The Government of Patiala and East Punjab States Union have informed that the Director of Archives of the Union has suggested the following subjects to be of interest to research scholars for selecting suitable subjects for their thesis :—

- (i) History of each of the States of Patiala, Jind, Nabha, Kapurthala and Faridkot.
- (ii) Minority administrations in the Phulkian States.
- (iii) Services rendered by the Phulkian States to the British Government in India.
- (iv) Patiala and the Chamber of Princes.

8. The Government of West Bengal have intimated that the contents of the letter have been forwarded to the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal, Bangiya Sahitya Parishad and Sanskrit Sahitya Parishad with the request to bring them to the notice of the research scholars working under them for compliance.

9. The University of Mysore have been intimated that the Head of the Department of History of that University has been requested to inform the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, direct soon after he came across any new and interesting subject worthy of report.

10. The Government of Travancore and Cochin have informed that a press note has been published on the subject for information of all concerned.

11. The Government of Vindhya Pradesh have informed that the matter has been brought to the notice of the Vindhya Historical Records Commission for future guidance and any interesting and new subject which they come across in the course of their work will be communicated to the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission.

Remarks.—Materials as and when received will be published in the 'Indian Archives'.

Resolution II.—That early and suitable steps be taken by the Indian Historical Records Commission for publication of original texts or translations of comparatively important historical manuscripts and documents discovered by the respective Regional Records Survey Committees.

The Government of India while agreeing in principle with the Resolution consider that publication of historical manuscripts and documents discovered by the Regional Records Survey Committee is a work which should be undertaken by the provincial Governments, etc., in conjunction with their respective regional Committees.

The provincial Governments and local administrations were, however, requested to inform the Government of India the course of action taken or proposed to be taken by them on the resolution.

1. The Government of Assam have informed that they have postponed the scheme for setting up of a Regional Records Survey Committee till the next financial year due to the limitations of finance and as such the question of undertaking the publication of historical monuments and documents in accordance with the resolution of the Indian Historical Records Commission does not arise for the present. (Please see conspectus Resolution VI, eighth meeting of the Research & Publication Committee).

2. The Chief Commissioner, Coorg, has informed that there are no historical records and monuments of importance in Coorg and therefore no Regional Records Survey Committee has been set up. In the circumstances no action is considered necessary on the resolution.

3. The Chief Commissioner, Bilaspur (State), East Punjab, has informed that a Regional Records Survey Committee for the discovery of historical manuscripts and documents in that province has since been appointed.

4. The Chief Commissioner, Bhopal, has informed that the volume and importance of record in Bhopal are not such as will necessitate the expenditure of money in the appointment of a new Regional Records Survey Committee and as such an ad hoc Committee has been proposed to be constituted for the purpose of examining important manuscripts and documents. A report of the findings will be sent in due course.

5. The Chief Commissioner, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, has informed that it is not proposed to take any action as no historical manuscripts and documents have so far been found nor are likely to be found in that Islands as all those records have been destroyed by the Japanese during the period of their occupation.

Remarks.—The Chief Commissioner, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, has been requested to furnish the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, with the information as to the nature, the extent and the inclusive dates of the records involved in the destruction and to make a thorough investigation to this effect whether those records have been physically transferred elsewhere or was it exclusively attributable to Japanese destructive tactics.

The following reply has been given by the Chief Commissioner, Andaman & Nicobar Islands :

As none of the old records or registers are to be found here, it is not possible to give any information regarding the nature, the extent, and the inclusive dates of the records destroyed by the Japanese during their occupation of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands. Nor is it possible for the Local Administration to state categorically that these records have actually been destroyed, and not carried away elsewhere. All that we can say is that the local people saw heaps of old records being burnt by the Japanese in the compounds of the Government offices which the latter had occupied. As, however, access to these buildings was strictly forbidden to outsiders by the Japanese military authorities, no detailed information can be given regarding the nature of the records that were destroyed. The fact remains that when these Islands were re-occupied by the Allied Forces in October 1945, no old records were found. It is, however, by no means improbable that some of these records were carried away between 1942 and 1945 by the Japanese, and deposited elsewhere.

6. The Government of Madras have informed that they have already set up a Committee for the survey of historical records and that that Committee has not unearthed any manuscripts. The question of publishing the historically important manuscripts will be considered as and when the Committee unearths any manuscripts of real importance. (Please see reply of the Government of Madras on Resolution VI of the eighth meeting of the Research and Publication Committee.)

7. The Government of East Punjab have informed that they have already a plan in operation and according to that plan research works of outstanding merit are published in the form of monographs. Two of such monographs are already in the Press and that they will pursue the objectives in this resolution as far as possible.

8. The Government of Bombay have informed that they have created a Board for Historical Records and Ancient Monuments which will consider all questions that may be referred to by the Indian Historical Records Commission and the Research and Publication Committee. (The aims and objects is printed in the Appendix D. Please see remarks against Resolution VI of the eighth meeting, Resolution VIII of the tenth meeting also.)

Resolution III.—This Committee reiterates that for enabling the Indian research scholars to write a complete and more authentic account of the political, social and economic condition of India in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries, and particularly the History of Indian trade, commerce and shipping, the Government of India be requested to arrange with the Governments of Holland, Portugal and France for obtaining microfilm copies of all such records in their possession as may have any bearing on India.

The Government of India have accepted the resolution. The preliminary work undertaken by the National Archives of India in collecting information about records relating to India in foreign repositories has revealed a mass of valuable information on the subject and order has been placed with the following institutions to supply microfilm copies of those records :—

United Kingdom : 1. British Museum, London ; 2. National Library of Scotland, Edinburgh ; 3. Keeper of Register and Records of Scotland, Edinburgh ; 4. The Guildhall Library, London ; 5. Bodleian Library, Oxford ; 6. The Public Record Office, London ; 7. Lambeth Palace Library, Lambeth.

France : 8. La Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris ; 9. Les Archives de Seine-et-Oise, Versailles ; 10. Archives des France, Paris.

Norway and Denmark : 11. Riksarkivet, Oslo (Norway) ; 12. Rigsarkivet, Copenhagen (Denmark).

United States of America : 13. Library of Congress ; Washington ; 14. Cleveland Public Library, Cleveland, Ohio ; 15. Henry E. Huntington Library, San Marino, California.

Item 7 of the Proceedings regarding proposal for compilation of a Medical History of India

The relevant extracts from the proceedings of the meeting have been sent to Dr. D. V. Subba Reddy.

Dr. Reddy has been further informed that as Madras has a fully organised Records Office provided with suitable arrangements for rehabilitating old and fragile documents he should contact its Curator for assistance. The Director of Archives, Government of India, who is likely to visit Madras some time late in 1949, will also try to inspect his collection and render any help that he can.

Fourteenth Meeting, New Delhi, May 1949

Resolution I.—This Committee recommends to the Government of India that all imports of microfilm copies of official documents, historical manuscripts and rare books from abroad should be exempted from normal customs duty at the ports.

The question is under the consideration of the Government of India.

Resolution II.—That this Committee recommends that all documents (paper) and manuscripts of a date subsequent to A.D. 1600, which are now in the possession of the Archaeological Department and different museums should be transferred to the National Archives of India.

As no documents in the custody of the Archaeological Department and different museums are likely to be archives, the Government of India have decided that the Archaeological Department should furnish to the National Archives of India with a list of such manuscripts in an approved form.

Resolution III.—This Committee reiterates its previous recommendations and requests the provincial Governments to expedite the establishment of organised records offices in their respective provinces if they have not already done so.

1. The Government of West Bengal have informed that an organised records office exists in the province.

2. The Government of Assam have informed that with a view to establishing an organised records office in Assam, the provincial Government have already deputed a candidate for training in Archives Keeping in the National Archives of India. Prior to the completion of his training no steps for implementation of the resolution can be taken.

3. The Chief Commissioner, Kutch, has informed that the Administration has no historical records.

Remarks.—This seems to be quite unlikely as the Kutch State appears to have come into existence in the 15th century and came to have relations with the British power in India as early as 1809. An enquiry has been made of the Chief Commissioner, Kutch, to this effect and the reply is awaited.

4. The Government of East Punjab have informed that they have already established a Record Office of their own which is in the charge of a Class I officer of long experience who is assisted by two qualified trained technical assistants. He has been a permanent member of Indian Historical Records Commission and has been serving it for the last 12 years.

5. The Government of United Provinces have informed that they have appointed a Keeper of Records who has been entrusted with the work of establishing a Central Records Office at Allahabad.

6. The Chief Commissioner, Coorg, has informed that there are only a limited number of historical records in that province which are preserved safely and as there is no scope for conducting any fresh researches in this direction, it is not considered necessary to establish an organised record office there.

7. The Government of Madras have informed that they have had an organised record office as early as 1909.

8. The Chief Commissioner, Bhopal, has informed that in Bhopal an Archives Department known as the Central Records Office has been in existence from 1852. It is one of the oldest in the Dominion and is being run and maintained on lines suggested by the Central Records Office of the Government of India. There are no modern machines to work with but attempts are being made to obtain the same results by means of local contrivances, as far as possible.

9. The Government of Patiala and East Punjab States Union, have informed that they are already taking necessary steps to organise a Central Record Office for the Covenanted States of that Union at Patiala.

10. The Chief Commissioner, Delhi, has requested the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, to inspect the records of his Administration with a view to determine as to which of the records are of historical value. So far as the question of establishing a separate Records office for Delhi is concerned, he submitted that Delhi being a small province, it is very doubtful whether a separate Records Office will be necessary.

Resolution IV.—Resolved that the Government of India be urged to take suitable steps immediately for the safe custody and proper preservation of records lately in possession of the various Indian States. The Director of National Archives may be given all necessary facilities for this purpose and be requested to submit his report to the Indian Historical Records Commission at an early date.

The resolution together with extracts from the proceedings of the meeting has been forwarded by the Government of India to all the provincial Governments, States and Unions of States with the request to take necessary steps for the preservation, custody and maintenance of integrity of records which were lately in the possession of various States now merged with the provinces or have formed into Unions. In cases of larger States (like Baroda, Kolhapur, Cochin, etc.) which had well organised records offices of their own, it would be desirable that these records offices should be maintained intact, control remaining with the provincial Government or the Union Governments as the case may be.

The Government of East Punjab have informed that steps will be taken for the safe custody and preservation of the materials, if any, found in the records of the States of Laharu, Pataudi and Dujana which have merged into the province of East Punjab.

Item 6 regarding Madras Regional Records Survey Committee

An extract from the proceeding of the meeting has been forwarded by the Government of India to the Madras Government and the provincial Government have been requested that the permanent Regional Records Survey Committee set up by Madras should follow the programme laid down by the Indian Historical Records Commission for the previous ad hoc Committee in its entirety.

The reply from the Government of Madras is awaited.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE MEETING OF THE INDIAN HISTORICAL RECORDS COMMISSION, TWENTY-SIXTH SESSION
MEMBERS' MEETING

Cuttack, 25th December, 1949

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Indian Historical Records Commission was held at 11-15 A.M. on Sunday, December 25, 1949, at the Physics Lecture Theatre of Ravenshaw College, Cuttack. In the absence of Hon'ble Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, ex-officio President of the Commission, Professor D. V. Potdar was elected to the Chair. A list of members who were present is appended with the proceedings of the Public Meeting.

1. Review of action taken on the Resolutions of the twenty-fifth and some previous sessions of the Commission.

(Please see conspectus).

The Chairman drew attention to Resolution II of the twenty-fourth session and said he had information that the Gandhi Memorial Trust had consulted some American experts regarding preservation and microfilming of some of the papers of Mahatma Gandhi. He regretted the fact that the Trust instead of consulting experts in India first should have gone to foreign experts. He, however, expressed his satisfaction that eventually the Trust had agreed to have the Director of Archives of the Government of India on the Committee entrusted with setting up of a Gandhi Museum, a suggestion which had been accepted by the Government of India.

Dr. N. L. Chatterjee referred to Resolution XV of the twenty-fourth session and said that no grant had been made to the United Provinces Historical Society for research. He desired that the Government of United Provinces be approached in the matter.

The Chairman inquired if the United Provinces Historical Society had asked for a grant from the United Provinces Government for the specific purpose of research.

Sri Parmanand said that the United Provinces Government was probably not aware that the Society undertook any specific research work. If they were so informed and a request was made to them, they would perhaps consider the matter.

The Chairman drew attention to Resolution III of the twenty-fifth session and suggested that the Government of India be reminded of the resolution and asked to take an early decision.

Dr. S. N. Sen said that besides reminding the Government of India, the latter should be asked to obtain specific information regarding the dispersal of the Residency records some of which had been destroyed at the time of the transfer of power, while the bulk had been transferred to the United Kingdom's High Commissioner in India, despite the best efforts of the Director of Archives to stop such transfer. The following resolution was then passed unanimously :

Resolution I.—This Commission draws the attention of the Government of India to Resolution III of the twenty-fifth session and further urges upon them to get back all Residency records transferred to the custody of the High Commissioner of the United Kingdom in India.

2. Recommendations, if any, of the Research and Publication Committee during the Cuttack meeting.

There being no recommendation of an exceptional nature by the Research and Publication Committee, the Commission proceeded to consider the next item on the agenda.

3. Review of the progress made on the Development Scheme.

Reports of the action taken on the development schemes of the National Archives of India were placed before the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth sessions of the Indian Historical Records Commission held at Jaipur and Delhi. A further report is submitted below :—

The principal recommendations are :—

- (i) Microfilm copies of all unpublished records relating to modern Indian history not available in this country should be obtained and preserved in the Imperial Record Department.
- (ii) All necessary steps should be taken for salvaging privately owned manuscripts in India. The central and provincial record offices should be legally authorised to take charge of such manuscripts when their respective owners are willing to transfer their custody on such terms as may be mutually agreed upon. Such owners as may be prepared to provide for the better preservation of their manuscripts should be given such technical advice and service as they may require.
- (iii) Unwarranted destruction and export of historical manuscripts should be legally prohibited.
- (iv) Microphotographic copies of all the publications on India not available in this country should be obtained irrespective of the period they deal with and placed in the custody of the Imperial Record Department.

- (v) All bona fide students should have access to these copies.
- (vi) The Imperial Record Department should supply at a reasonable price copies made out of the microfilms mentioned above to Universities, learned societies, public libraries and such persons as may apply for them.
- (vii) Early steps should be taken to air-condition the muniment rooms of the Imperial Record Department with a view to securing uniformity of temperature and relative humidity.
- (viii) Vacuum fumigatorium and laminating machines should be installed in the Imperial Record Department at an early date.
- (ix) Imparting instructions in theory and practice of archives keeping should be recognised as one of the normal duties of the Imperial Record Department.
- (x) Publication programme.
- (xi) Building and Shelves.
- (xii) Storage Equipment (for records).
- (xiii) Accession of records of Government of India not transferred.
- (xiv) Map Room.
- (xv) Survey and listing of National Archives of India records.

(i) and (iv) above.—A sum of Rs. 50,000/- has been provided by the Government of India for the purchase of microfilm copies of documents relating to India from foreign countries. Contacts have been established with several countries in Europe and with the United States of America and some of them are willing to co-operate with our scheme. Orders have also been placed with some of the foreign institutions for supply of microfilm copies of records (Please see conspectus, Research & Publication Committee). The work of collecting further information on the subject is being continued despite the fact that the necessary staff asked for this purpose has not so far been provided by the Government of India.

(ii) above.—(a) During 1948-49 and 1949-50 the Government of India have granted two subventions of Rs. 6,500 each to the ad hoc Regional Records Survey Committees in the provinces. The grant for 1949-50 has not been disbursed to the Bombay Committee since the Committee has surrendered the entire amount granted to it in 1947-48, its share being equally divided between the Committees in the United Provinces and West Bengal who have been doing useful survey work. All the Survey Committees in the provinces have unearthed valuable manuscripts in the course of their survey work and the documents purchased by them from private owners have been transferred to the National Archives of India for custody.

(b) The proposal for the compilation of a 'National Register of Records, manuscripts, etc.', of which mention was made last year, has been deferred by the Government of India till the next financial year, as an economy measure.

(c) As in the previous year the Government of India was approached for a grant of Rs. 20,000/- for the purchase of manuscripts. No formal sanction has so far been received.

(d) The Government grant of Rs. 5,000 for tendering technical services to institutions and private persons is being usefully utilised. The Preservation Division of the National Archives of India has repaired some of the records of the East Punjab Record Office, and of the Kashmir Government and supplied microphotographic copies of records to Swedish Embassy and to private individuals. The National Archives of India is now engaged in microfilming the Gilgit Manuscripts.

(e) Books.—It was the Commission's view that the National Archives of India should build up a library of basic books on modern Indian history as well as archive science and connected subjects. A sum of Rs. 10,000 was granted by the Government of India for this purpose in 1947. But owing to all round rise in prices of books very few books could be acquired by the National Archives of India library which continues to have considerable gaps.

(f) Parliamentary Papers.—The plan under which a full collection of Parliamentary papers or their microfilm copies was to be acquired by the National Archives of India has made some progress. H.M.'s Stationery Office was approached in this behalf who has begun to collect necessary materials for microfilming and the Government of India have been requested to furnish the necessary funds.

(g) Subvention to Societies.—No grants under this head have been sanctioned by the Government.

(iii) above.—The question of legislation preventing destruction and export of historical manuscripts and documents was discussed at a meeting between the representatives of the Ministry of Law, Ministry of Education and the Director of Archives, Government of India. The Constituent Assembly has included in the Union List, any 'records' that may be declared by the Parliament by law to be of national importance.

(v) and (vi) above.—No comments.

(viii) above.—The installation of the laminating machine and the fumigatorium is in progress.

(ix) above.—The Government of India have sanctioned two stipends for Rs. 100 p. m. each to deserving students in the National Archives of India.

(x) above.—Please see report in the agenda of the Research and Publication Committee.

Honorarium to Editors.—The Government of India have made a further grant of Rs. 7,500/- as the honorarium to the second batch of six Editors who are engaged in editing the works under the Publication Programme of the National Archives of India, each to be paid a lump sum of Rs. 1,250.

(xi) above.—It was decided in an inter-departmental meeting that another wing to the present building comprising 19,000 sq. ft. would be built. The blue prints have since been prepared by the Chief Architect, Central Public Works Department, in consultation with the Director of Archives and his technical staff.

The Government of India agreed to the provision of adjustable canti-lever shelves in a part of the stack area in the ground floor and installation is likely to be undertaken soon.

(xii) above.—It was recommended by the Commission that the present system of keeping records in bundles should be replaced by that of storing them in carton boxes. A small grant has been received this year but it has not been possible to secure carton boxes through lack of requisite materials.

(xiii) above.—Under the accession programme envisaged in the Commission's recommendation the National Archives of India was to acquire the non-current records of all the different agencies of the Government of India wherever they may be located including the defunct agencies. Under this scheme it has been possible only to acquire the records of the Survey of India from 1777 to 1899. The National Archives of India could not approach other agencies in this behalf as it had not the requisite accommodation. But the records of almost all the defunct agencies of the late Political Department have been acquired barring those which through the carelessness of the previous administration were transferred to the High Commissioner for United Kingdom in India or dispersed among several agencies, provincial as well as Central. Attempts are being made to collect information regarding these lost and dispersed records.

(xiv) above.—The Commission recommended as early as 1945 that the Government of India should build up a Central Map repository at the National Archives of India. A proposal has since been received from the Survey of India for the transfer to the National Archives of India their entire collection of old maps. It has however not been possible to accept the transfer so far, as there is no adequate accommodation in the National Archives of India building. But the question of accommodation is under the consideration of the Government and information is being collected by the National Archives of India regarding the best methods of building up an up-to-date Map Room.

(xv) above.—Under the Commission's recommendation the National Archives of India was to conduct a survey of the whole collection of its records and to prepare an inventory with a view to finding lacunae among them. No systematic effort in this behalf has been possible to make through lack of staff. The surveying and listing of several individual collections have however been taken up including the collection known as China Paper, Survey of India's records and the Residency records recently received. The first item has been completed and the other items are in progress.

The Chairman referred to items relating to accommodation in the National Archives of India, its staff, provision for buying books for its Library and the establishment of a Map Room, and said that all these were very important matters and the Government should lose no more time in making adequate provision for them. He also thought that the scheme for building up a National Register of Records and Manuscripts was a matter of great national importance and its implementation should not be delayed. The following resolution was moved by the Chair and passed unanimously:

Resolution II.—The Commission expresses its satisfaction with the progress made in several branches of the Development Programme of the National Archives of India. It feels at the same time that some of the branches have not been attended to adequately, they being provision for more accommodation in the National Archives of India, its proper staffing, air conditioning of the muniment rooms, developing the Library of the National Archives of India, and the establishment of a Map Room. The Commission feels these are items of pressing importance and should not be delayed further, and it urges upon the Government of India to make immediate and adequate provision for the above items. The Commission further feels that the compilation of a National Register of Records and Manuscripts is a work of great national importance and should be taken up immediately by the Government of India.

4. Proposal by Prof. C. S. Srinivasachari on retirement from service of Dr. S. N. Sen, ex-officio Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission.

It is with feelings of regret that we learn of the retirement on 31st October 1949 of Dr. S. N. Sen, Director of Archives, Government of India, and ex-officio Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, after a connection which had lasted for over ten years. Dr. Sen during his period of office rendered valuable service to the cause of archives, preservation and studies in this country. He brought about a radical reorganisation of the structure and working of the Indian Historical Records Commission in 1941-42 with due representation on it from the Provinces, States, and learned institutions, and gave it a definite programme of work. It is due largely to his efforts that the Commission has been able to implement a programme of intensive survey of records and historical manuscripts in the country, a first class research laboratory on archival problems and a repair shop for documents have been built up at the National Archives of India, while a scheme for getting copies of records and manuscripts and books relating to India in foreign repositories has been developed, and several provinces have been persuaded to establish organized record offices of their own and start provincial records survey commissions ; while the people have been made more archives conscious than before. Dr. Sen was also responsible for planning a programme of records publication of which he himself edited several volumes. It was again through the efforts of Dr. Sen that the first archival journal in the East, THE INDIAN ARCHIVES, came to be published from the National Archives of India.

I, therefore, recommend that the Commission do record its appreciation of Dr. Sen's valuable services and urge that a resolution be passed to this effect and communicated to Dr. Sen. I further recommend that the Commission request the Government of India (1) to appoint Dr. Sen as an additional Expert Member on the Commission, in recognition of his services and to enable the Commission to utilise further Dr. Sen's long experience in archival matters and (2) appoint him afresh as the General Editor of the Indian Record Series, and Record in Oriental Languages Series, in his personal capacity, and as an honorary adviser to the Local Records Sub-Committee.

Professor C. S. Srinivasachari moved his resolution with a short speech in which he reviewed the many services rendered by Dr. Sen to the cause of archives and historical scholarship generally in India and to the Indian Historical Records Commission and the National Archives of India in particular. In support of the proposal to appoint Dr. Sen afresh as the General Editor Professor Srinivasachari referred to such precedents as the appointment of Professor Dodwell. He was seconded and supported by Dr. R. C.

Majumdar, Professor V. R. Dikshitar, Dr. N. K. Sinha, Mr. J. C. Taluqdar, Professor Mohammad Habib, Mr. V. Narayana Pillai, Mr. M. L. Roy Chowdhury, Mr. K. R. Venkatarama Ayyar and the Chairman.

Dr. S. N. Sen replying said that he greatly appreciated the expressions of affection from his colleagues on the Commission, but he felt embarrassed by the second part of the proposal contained in the resolution, namely, to continue him as the General Editor of the publications of the National Archives of India. He added that his work which was being appreciated by the Commission had been made possible by the unflinching cooperation of his colleagues in the National Archives of India and the Ministry of Education, particularly Sir John Sargent and Dr. Tara Chand, and he wanted it recorded that most of the tributes paid to him were actually tributes to the staff of the National Archives of India.

The following resolution was then passed with one dissenting voice, that of Dr. Sen as noted above :

Resolution III.—That the Commission do record its appreciation of Dr. S. N. Sen's valuable services and urge that a resolution be passed to this effect and communicated to Dr. Sen. It is further recommended that the Commission request the Government of India (i) to appoint Dr. Sen as an additional Expert Member on the Commission, in recognition of his services and to enable the Commission to utilise further Dr. Sen's long experience in archival matters and (ii) appoint him afresh as the General Editor of the Indian Record Series, and Records in Oriental Languages Series, in his personal capacity, and as an honorary adviser to the Local Records Sub-Committee.

5. International Council on Archives.

During the last session of the Indian Historical Records Commission, mention was made about a draft constitution prepared by the UNESCO for the proposed International Council on Archives. A copy of the constitution as adopted at the Inaugural Meeting of the provisional International Council, convened by the UNESCO in June 1948, has been received from its Director General. The constitution will be found in Appendix A. The members will be glad to know that with the concurrence of the Government of India, the Indian Historical Records Commission has become an "Associational" member of the International Council on Archives according to para. 3 (a) of the constitution and a subscription of £ 50 has been paid as the membership fee of the International Council. This will entitle the Commission to receive all publications, services and privileges of the Council and to send two delegates to each Congress. The question of the National Archives of India becoming an "Institutional" member of the Council is under the consideration of the Government of India. The President of the International Council on Archives, Dr. Charles Samaran, has further honoured the Commission by appointing Dr. S.N. Sen as a member of the Admissions Committee of the Council. The appointment which has been approved by the Government of India, has been made in Dr. Sen's personal capacity.

In a letter from Dr. Samaran it is learnt that it has been decided to hold the meeting of the International Council on Archives at Paris on 23-26 August 1950. Those who wish to take part in the Congress are required to inform the Secretariat of the International Congress, Direction des Archives de France, 60 rue des Francs—Bourgeois, Paris (3e). The Registration fee has been fixed at 1000 French francs to be paid in Paris, students for recognised archival schools and archival courses of the Universities being admitted on a fee of 300 francs. The last date for registration is 1 February 1950. Registration can be for an individual or in the name of an institution. The following subjects are likely to be discussed at the meeting: the control of archives in the process of creation, archives and microphotography, Economical archives (archives of private enterprises), Publication of an international bibliography of guides to archives. All correspondence are to be addressed to Secretariat des Congress International, Direction des Archives de France.

The Commission expressed its satisfaction at the appointment of Dr. S. N. Sen as a member of the Admissions Committee of the International Council on Archives. It was unanimously resolved :

Resolution IV.—That the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, be nominated to represent the Commission on the ensuing meeting of the International Council on Archives to be held on August 20 to 23, 1950, in Paris, and the Government of India be moved to make the necessary financial sanction for the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, to attend the session.

6. Indian National Commission.

In January 1949, the Government of India approached the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, to nominate a representative of the Commission to the proposed Indian National Commission for co-operation with the UNESCO. According to the original report of the Committee set up by the Government of India for the formation of a National Commission, the Indian Historical Records Commission was entitled to nominate a representative on the Educational Sub-Commission of the National Commission. As the first meeting of the National Commission was convened on the 9-10 April 1949, the Honourable Minister for Education, Government of India, who is the ex-officio President of the Record Commission, nominated Dr. S.N. Sen, the Secretary, to represent the Commission in the meeting of the Commission, which the Secretary attended. The Executive Board of the National Commission in its meeting held in July 1949 has since revised the composition of the Commission according to which the Indian Historical Records Commission is now grouped together with five other learned societies under the Educational Sub-Commission to be represented by rotation. The change in the method of representation has been brought to the notice of the Government of India and their decision is awaited.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad said that the revised system of representation on the Indian National Commission for cooperation with UNESCO by rotation did not give the historical associations and institutions in India an adequate representation. He, therefore, suggested that the original system of representation should be restored. The following resolution was passed unanimously :

Resolution V.—The Commission recommends to the Government of India that it should be individually and permanently represented on the Indian National Commission for cooperation with UNESCO, instead of taking its turn in rotation with several other bodies as at present.

7. Indian Standards Institution.

The Indian Standards Institution, which is engaged in preparing Indian Standard Specification for abbreviations of titles of periodicals on the line of International Standard in this field, circulated a draft list of abbreviations to the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission and sought his opinion on the subject. The Institution also forwarded a copy of the proceedings of the fourth meeting of the Documentation Sectional Committee (Appendix B.) and invited the Indian Historical Records Commission to nominate a representative, preferably a resident in Delhi, to become a member of the Indian Standards Institution Documentation Committee. Members are requested to propose the name of the representative.

The following resolution was unanimously passed :

Resolution VI.—Resolved that the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, be nominated as a member of the Indian Standards Institution Documentation Committee.

8. Representation on the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology.

The term of office of the representative of the Indian Historical Records Commission (Dr. S. N. Sen) on the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology expired in February 1948 and the Commission at its twenty-fourth session held in Jaipur re-elected Dr. Sen (vide. Resolution VII) for another term. In January 1949 the Board has been reconstituted for a period of three years with effect from the 3rd February 1948. The revised constitution which includes the name of Dr. S. N. Sen as the nominee of the Indian Historical Records Commission, will be found in Appendix C.

The representative of the Indian Historical Records Commission on the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology may be asked to make the following proposal at the next meeting of the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology; that a representative of the Department of Archaeology, Government of India, may be nominated on each of the Regional Records Survey Committees who will be of assistance for taking over for the Department of Archaeology any items of archaeological and antiquarian interest discovered in the course of the activities of the Regional Records Survey Committees which do not fall within the definitions of records and historical manuscripts.

The following resolution was unanimously passed :

Resolution VII.—Resolved that the representative of the Indian Historical Records Commission, on the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology may be asked to make the following proposals at the next meeting of the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology ; (i) that a representative of the Department of Archaeology, Government of India may be nominated on each of the Regional Records Survey Committees, who will be of assistance for taking over for the Department of Archaeology any items of archaeological and antiquarian interest discovered in the course of the activities of the Regional Records Survey Committees which do not fall within the definitions of records and historical manuscripts ; and (ii) that the Conveners of each of the provincial Regional Records Survey Committees be co-opted on the Central Advisory Board of Archaeology.

9. Bicentenary Celebration of Austrian State Archives.

In August 1949 the General Director of Austrian Palace Court and State Archives extended an invitation to the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, to attend its bicentenary celebrations held at Vienna in September of the same year. As it was not possible for the Secretary to attend the celebration a message of felicitation was sent by him to the General Director together with the publications of the Indian Historical Records Commission.

For information only.

10. Conservation of Records under Unified Central Control.

The question of conservation of all the historical records as distinguished from current importance under a unified control, it may be recalled, was originally sponsored by the Indian Historical Records Commission at its twenty-third session in 1946 and the Commission recommended (Resolution IV) that this might be examined by a Sub-Committee. A Sub-Committee appointed by the Government of India met in July 1948 and its findings which were placed before the Research and Publication Committee at its twelfth meeting held thereafter, were endorsed by that Committee. The minutes of the Sub-Committee and the resolution of the Research and Publication Committee on it will be found in the Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings Volume XXV, Part I. The original resolution together with the minutes of the Sub-Committee were circulated by the Government of India to all the provincial Governments and the States for their opinion. Replies have been received from all the provinces, except West Bengal and from a number of States (Please see conspectus) from which it will appear that excepting a few provinces (C. P. and Berar, Delhi, Ajmer-Merwara and Coorg), none is in favour of the general principle underlying the resolution though almost all of them are agreeable to the proposal of inspection of their records by the Director of Archives, Government of India. Opinions of the States (some of them have since merged with the provinces or have formed into Unions) on the subject are however divided, though some of them have accepted the main proposal. From the nature of the reply received from the provinces and States it appears that the real conception of the Resolution has not been properly understood by most of the provincial and State Governments. By unified central control, the Commission never aimed at physical transfer of records from the provinces or states or their physical amalgamation with central records at New Delhi but adoption of a uniform policy in housing, maintenance and preservation of those records and making them available to research scholars under a unified central control. To make this effective the following alternative suggestions have been made :—

(i) Establishment of an All-India Archive Council and placing all archives in India under its jurisdiction. This will necessitate enactment of an archival law defining "archives".—The functions of the Central Archival Authority will be to arrange for archival buildings in the provinces, etc., their equipment and staff, regular transfer of records from the operating agencies to the archives, to lay down rules and regulations for the administration and servicing of the records and to apply them to the provincial and State archives.

(ii) Same as (i), the expenses in this connection being shared between the Centre and the provinces or States on the ground that the records would be maintained mainly for the benefit of the provincial administration and scholarship.

(iii) Establishment of an Archive Council as in (i) above, which will lay down the archival procedure of the country which would be binding upon the provinces and States. The archival policy laid down by the Centre would be executed by the provinces and States, the central authority only exercising the right of inspection.

As stated before [vide item 3 (iii)] the members would be glad to know that the Constituent Assembly has included "records" under entry No. 60 of the VII Schedule of the Union List of the Draft Constitution, which reads as follows :—

"Ancient and Historical Monuments and Records declared by Parliament by law to be of national importance."

The Chairman expressed the opinion that an archival legislation establishing a Central Archival Authority and defining archives and functions of the Central Archival Authority was immediately needed. In his view the third alternative given above was the most practical approach towards ensuring the conservation of all historical records in the country.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad said that this was a very important matter and required careful consideration. He suggested the appointment of a Committee to consider the matter.

The Chairman thought that the procedure suggested by Dr. Prasad would unduly delay things and the Commission should straightaway make its recommendations to the Government of India.

Dr. R. C. Majumdar agreed with the Chairman and added that it was necessary to find out the attitude of the Government before going into minute details.

The following resolution was proposed by the Chair and passed unanimously :

Resolution VIII.—This Commission recommends that a Central Archival Authority be established by law charged with laying down the archival procedure in the country at the Centre as well as in the provinces and the States, the Central Authority being further authorised to exercise the right of inspection in order to see that the procedure laid down by it is carried out satisfactorily. The law should also define "archives".

The Commission then elected a Committee consisting of the persons mentioned below which was to meet and go into the details of the matter if the above resolution was accepted by the Government of India.

Dr. S. N. Sen	Professor Mohammad Habib
Dr. R. C. Majumdar	Dr. P. M. Joshi
Professor D. V. Potdar	and the Secretary, I. H.
Professor C. S. Srinivasachari	R.C. (to act as Secretary).

11. Organizing the archive of Universities and Colleges and learned Institutions in India.

The Universities, most Colleges and learned institutions in India possess material among their official records which are extremely valuable for the study of cultural history of the country. Research among their archives has produced such a work in India as The History of Hooghly College by K. Zachariah. Universities and Colleges in other countries have in many instances organized their archives for this particular purpose—instances of the Universities of Harvard, Yale and Minnesota in the U. S. A. and the University of Oxford in Great Britain may be cited. Universities, Colleges and learned institutions in India may also be suggested to take up immediately the organization of their archives.

The following resolution was passed :

Resolution IX.—The commission recommends that the suggestion above may be forwarded to all provincial Governments, States Unions, etc. requesting them to forward it to all Universities, and learned and scientific institutions started before 1900 within their areas.

12. Inclusion of research among University and College archives as part of their post-graduate history curriculum.

Normally post-graduate study of history in our Universities and Colleges is based on secondary sources. In order to make the study of history realistic and more effective, it is essential that students should be encouraged in fairly early stages to handle original documentary material. This purpose will perhaps be best served if a paper on the study and criticism of unpublished documents be instituted in History Schools as part of the post-graduate examination. The University and College archives will provide them such materials near at hand.

Dr. N. K. Sinha said that the materials in the Universities were normally very scanty.

Dr. Bisheshwar Prasad expressed the opinion that undoubtedly research among original records should be encouraged among the students, but the suggestion made above was quite irrelevant because in the first place the material provided by any University archives would not be adequate for producing a good thesis, and secondly because no University in India was old enough to have any archives.

The Secretary pointed out that there seemed a misunderstanding of the intention of the proposal. It was not suggested that first class Ph.D. theses were to be produced based on materials in a University archives, but that the latter could provide materials to M.A. students in History to make a first hand study of archival material with a view to giving them practice of handling, studying and appraising unpublished documents. Secondly, it was not correct to say that in India no University was old enough to have archives because any organised institution which produced documents in the transaction of its official business automatically created archives even though it was only few days old.

The following resolution was then unanimously passed :

Resolution X.—The Commission recommends that the curriculum for the Master's Degree in History and Commerce in Indian Universities should include the handling of archives and the study and criticism of unpublished documents with a view to giving the students early training and practice in original research.

13. Date and place of 1950 and 1951 Sessions.

No invitation has so far been received by the Indian Historical Records Commission for its meetings of the next two years.

The Secretary informed the Commission that a formal invitation has been received from the University of Nagpur to hold the Twenty-seventh session of the Commission at Nagpur in 1950.

The invitation was gratefully accepted by the Commission.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Chair proposed by Professor C. S. Srinivasachari who also thanked the Orissa Government, particularly the Premier of Orissa, and the Utkal University for inviting the Commission at Cuttack and extending generous hospitality to the members, and the Local Officers and Volunteers for their excellent arrangements and service.

Dr. R. C. Majumdar seconded it.

CONSPECTUS OF ACTION TAKEN

INDIAN HISTORICAL RECORDS COMMISSION

Twenty-third Meeting, Indore, December 1946

Resolution IV.—This Commission recommends that a Committee consisting of (1) Dr. R. C. Majumdar, (2) Mahamahopadhyaya D. V. Potdar, (3) Dr. I. H. Qureshi, (4) Professor K. A. Nilakanta Sastri, (5) Mahamahopadhyaya Pandit B.N. Rau, (6) Dr. K. N. V. Sastri and (7) Dr. S. N. Sen be appointed to consider and recommend to the Government of India the steps to be taken to conserve all the records of historic as distinguished from current importance which are in charge of various provincial Governments and States. This Committee is authorised to make recommendations to the Government of India direct with authority of this Commission should the Committee deem it desirable.

The Government of India have circulated the Resolution to the various Governments for expression of their views on the subject. The replies of the different Governments are as follows :—

The Chief Commissioner, Coorg, has informed that the Administration has no objection to the assumption by the Central Government of the general control over all the historical records of the Province as this will not mean the transfer of these records from Coorg. The records could also be inspected by the Director of Archives, Government of India for the purpose mentioned in the resolution. The expenses in this connexion should be met by the Central Government in full.

The Jaisalmer State (late) have accepted the Resolution.

The United State of Rajasthan (former) have accepted the recommendation. They suggest that the Rajasthan Union should be given due representation in the Sub-Committee appointed by the Government of India to consider the question of unified control of all Historical Records.

The Government of United Provinces have informed that they do not favour the assumption by the Central Government of the general control over all the historical records of the provincial Governments. They have already decided to set up a Central Records Office at Allahabad and steps are being taken to appoint * (*A Keeper of the Records has since been appointed) a Keeper of the Records, who when appointed, will survey all public records of the Province and arrange for the removal of the records of historical importance to the Central Records Office at Allahabad. Research scholars will be provided necessary facilities to carry on research work at the Central Records Office.

The Government of Jaipur (late) have informed that the historical records of the Jaipur Government are well preserved and have been inspected by Dr. S. N. Sen, Director of Imperial Records, Government of India and by Sir Jadu Nath Sarkar and other scholars. The Jaipur Government are prepared to afford facilities to the Director of Archives, Government of India, to inspect them again and to make suggestions regarding their preservation. The Jaipur Government are considering the question of the accessibility of the historical records to research scholars and also that of the publication of these records. Scholars like Sir Jadu Nath Sarkar have conducted research among them and similar facilities will always be given to scholars and research students. The State Government are of opinion that the proposal for the assumption by the Central Government of the general control over the historical records of the Jaipur Government would not be of any advantage.

The Government of East Punjab have informed that the provincial Government have got their own Record Office which is under the control of a Class I officer of long experience. The officer has been a permanent member of the Indian Historical Records Commission for the last 12 years and his staff has been recently strengthened by the appointment of two qualified and trained Technical Assistants. The office is catering to the objects of the resolution and therefore it is considered that the establishment of central control in the case of this province would not only not serve any useful purpose but might mean a wasteful duplication of the efforts already being made by the Government. There is, however, good justification for Government of India assuming general control over all historical records in provinces which have no organised Records Offices of their own.

The Chief Commissioner, Himachal Pradesh, has informed that as arrangements are being made by the Administration for the centralisation and preservation of Historical records of the States and Estates which have merged in the Himachal Pradesh, there is no need for the Government of India to assume control over these records. For the development of this new province, it is essential that such records should, at least in the early stages, remain at the headquarters of this Administration for study and reference purposes.

The Government of Orissa have informed that they have already set up the Kalinga Historical Research Society which has been entrusted with the centralisation, collection and preservation of all Historical records. They are accordingly of opinion that the general control need not be taken over by the Government of India. The Director of Archives may, however, inspect these records and give his suggestions for their proper preservation. The Kalinga Historical Research Society will afford adequate facilities for making these records accessible to research scholars.

The Chief Commissioner, Delhi, has informed that the Administration has no objection to the proposal. As regards the old records the Administration request the Historical Records Commission to determine by inspection of the records as to which of these possess historical value. The records may be inspected as early as possible.

The Government of Central Provinces and Berar have accepted the proposal.

The Tehri Garhwal Darbar (late) have intimated that there is no historical record of importance in the State and that they will give every possible facility to the research scholars whenever they come to the State.

The Chief Commissioner, Ajmer-Merwara, has informed that the administration accept the recommendation.

The Government of Patiala and East Punjab States Union have informed that they realise the importance of historical records and have already taken every possible step to preserve such records and to prevent any loss or damage to them and arrangement is under way for concentrating the records of component States at one place for due care and preservation. There is, therefore, no need for the Central Government assuming general control over the historical records of this Union.

The Government of Bombay have informed that as the records in a province are in the main of interest to that province alone, and as the records of all-India importance in the province are not so many as to justify the transfer of all records to Central control the Government of Bombay are not in favour of the proposal.

The Baroda Government (late) have informed that they generally agree with the proposal. As regards the assumption of control by the Central Government, the State Government suggest that in view of the State's merger with the Bombay Presidency, it would be better if the matter is taken up with the provincial Government.

The Government of Cochin (late) have informed that the grounds given in the resolution for recommending assumption of general control are that proper arrangements have not yet been made in certain provinces and States for the centralisation and preservation of historical records and for making them accessible to scholars and that the creation of new provinces and the merger of the States into Union is likely to lead to the damage, destruction and disposal of these records. A Central Records Office has been in existence in the State from very early times and all valuable documents are preserved there under proper custody. Facilities for research are also provided to scholars subject to certain rules as in other places. The grounds on which the resolution is based are not therefore applicable to this State. The Government may however be informed as to how the Central Government propose to exercise this control.

NOTE.—The Govt. of India through whom the communication was received was requested to invite the attention of the Cochin Govt. to Resolution II of the 12th meeting of the R and P Committee.

The Banaras State have no records of any historical importance. The State will, however, have no objection to the assumption by the Government of India of control over all historical records of the State.

The Government of West Bengal have inquired as to the precise nature and extent of the proposed general control of historical records preserved in the provincial archives.

Secretary's remarks.—The scope of the resolution was fully explained by the Government of India to the West Bengal Government but no reply has been received so far.

The Government of Madras have informed that they agree with the views expressed by the Curator, Madras Records Office, that in Madras the assumption of control over these archives by the Central authorities by general legislation is neither called for nor desirable.

Summary of Opinion of the Curator, Madras Records Office :

It is only where the Provincial Government have not administered their property well, where they have not done anything to centralise, preserve and throw open for research their archives, that the Government of India will be justified in assuming some control over them, if need be, by legislation. But in that case the legislation cannot be general ; it can only be an enabling legislation making it possible for the Central Government to interfere where necessary. Where, however, as in Madras, the Provincial Government have organised a Central Record Office on the most-up-to-date lines, where everything has been done to centralise, preserve and throw open for research their archives, the assumption of control over these archives by the Central authorities by a general legislation is neither called for nor desirable.

Resolution VI.—This Commission considers that the time is opportune for establishing cultural relations with foreign countries and recommends that the respective Governments in France, United States of America, China, Union of Soviet Socialist Republic, Australia, South Africa, Nepal, Ceylon, Iran and Afghanistan be approached to co-operate with the activities of the Indian Historical Records Commission by nominating Corresponding members.

In addition to what has been reported in the Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings Volume XXV, Part I, six persons from China, three from Australia, two from Pakistan and one from Iran have been appointed as Corresponding members of the Indian Historical Records Commission.

Resolution VII.—(a) This Commission has carefully examined the rules framed by the Local Records Sub-Committee and approved by the Government of India for weeding their records and are of opinion that the addenda to rules suggested in the Agenda should be embodied in the set of rules and be adopted by the Central Government, His Excellency the Crown Representative (in Centre and Residencies), provincial Governments and Indian States.

(b) The Commission further recommends that the present time is inopportune for weeding of records in the Government and State agencies and therefore strongly urges upon the authorities concerned that no weeding of any records should be undertaken till a definite legislation is passed on the future constitution of this country.

The Government of Bihar have informed that they accept the suggestions made in the Resolution. Necessary instructions have been issued to the local officers to act up to the Resolution while weeding out the records.

Twenty-fourth meeting, Jaipur, February, 1948.

Resolution II.—This Commission approves the recommendations of the Research and Publication Committee and commends them to the Government of India with the following proviso added to Resolution No. XII on the subject of Mahatma Gandhi's manuscripts.

“(In case this resolution is not found feasible the Director of Archives should be associated with the supervision of the preservation measures).”

The Government of India forwarded the recommendation to the Gandhi National Memorial Trust and its decision is noted below :

The Gandhi National Memorial Trust has decided to establish a Gandhi Central Museum where it is proposed to preserve all the original writings of Mahatma Gandhi, his voice recordings, records relating to him and his institutions, etc. It is proposed to make this collection as exhaustive as possible. This Museum will be almost as good as a semi-governmental institution. The Trust will be glad to secure the assistance of the Director of Archives, who may be invited to work on in the Committee set up for the purpose. The Indian Historical Records Commission also may be invited to associate itself with this work.

One thing, however, must be noted here. Mahatma Gandhi, by his will, has left the legacy of all his property—books, writings, etc. to the Navajivan Trust of Ahmedabad. But this need not present any difficulty. The Hon'ble Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel who is the Vice-Chairman of the Gandhi National Memorial Trust is also the Chairman of the Navajivan Trust and he is at the same time the Deputy Prime Minister of the Government of India. The three agencies, therefore, can easily co-operate under his direction.

The Government of India are in general agreement with the views of the Trust and have no objection to the Director of Archives, Government of India, serving on the Mahatma Gandhi Memorial Committee and his rendering such assistance as may be required of him from time to time in this regard.

Resolution XV.—This Commission recommends the provincial Governments in the Dominion of India to give adequate grants to historical research institutions in their provinces expressly for the preservation of the collections of manuscripts and historical documents in their possession.

The Government of United Provinces have informed that they have already sanctioned adequate grants to three Oriental institutions (viz., Nagri Pracharani Sabha, Sanskrit College and Chaukhambba Sanskrit Series, Banaras) and one historical research institute (viz., U. P. Historical Society, Lucknow) for the preservation and collection of manuscripts during 1949-50. They are however prepared to consider the cases of any other similar deserving institution as and when such a request is made to them.

The Government of East Punjab have informed that they are maintaining and building up a Historical Record Office and are bearing the expenses on survey of historical records and also are engaged in doing everything to fulfil the purpose underlying the Resolution.

Twenty-fifth meeting, Delhi, December 1948.

Resolution I.—This Commission strongly recommends that the Government of India should arrange immediately for—(i) taking over control and management of (a) the Mackenzie manuscripts, (b) Dutch and Danish records, and (c) Tanjore Raj records and concentrate them at one specified place each in Madras, Tanjore and Calcutta for the present ;

(ii) preservation of these records according to the methods adopted in the National Archives of India ;

(iii) indexing, cataloguing and publishing of suitable materials by whole-time employment of qualified staff ;

(iv) inspection of these records by the Director, National Archives of India, and preparation by him of a comprehensive scheme of work on the lines indicated above ; and

(v) providing such funds as would be necessary to work out the plan as envisaged.

This Commission further recommends that the Director of Archives should report the progress of work annually to the Indian Historical Records Commission and that the question of permanent location of these records be considered at a future date.

The Government of India have permitted the Director of Archives, Govern-personally the Mackenzie manuscripts, Tanjore Raj records, the Dutch and Danish records in the custody of the respective provincial governments with a view to making recommendations to the Government as to what should be done about the proper storage and utilisation of these records.

Resolution II.—The Commission recommends that the Government of India take steps for the preparation of a catalogue of portraits and paintings of historical interest to India in the possession of private individuals, institutions and various Government institutions in India and abroad and distribute them widely in this country.

The Government of India have noted the resolution and would do whatever is possible in the matter to the extent that financial and other conditions permit.

Resolution III.—Resolved that steps be taken for the listing, cataloguing and indexing of the records transferred to the Government of India from the British Residencies which functioned in the Indian States till the 15th August 1947, the day of the declaration of Indian Independence.

The decision of the Government of India is awaited.

Item 4 of the Proceedings regarding representation of India on the International Council on Archives.

The Government of India inform that the proposal to send an Indian delegation to the forthcoming International Council on Archives scheduled to be held in 1950 will be considered in due course.

12. As a part of each Congress there shall be held a meeting of the Constituent Assembly to be known as the regular business meeting to elect officers and consider other business relating to the government and activities of the Council. The Constituent Assembly may upon its own vote or upon the call of the President of the International Council on Archives hold additional meetings as a part of any such Congress or between Congresses, provided, however, that a meeting called by the President between Congresses shall be called only after approval by two-thirds of the members of the Executive Board. 14. Any action taken in this part of the Session shall be by resolution only, such resolutions to have force as an expression of international professional opinion but not to be otherwise binding upon the membership.

The Executive Board

15. Between meetings of the Constituent Assembly the government of the Council and the management of its affairs, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution or determined by the Constituent Assembly, shall be vested in an Executive Board composed of the three elected officers, ten additional members elected by the Constituent Assembly from among the persons who have served as delegates from associational or institutional members or are individual or honorary members of the Council, and the Secretary-General and the Treasurer who shall be ex-officio members. Of the ten members not officers of the Council, five shall be elected at the regular business meeting at each Congress and each shall serve until his successor is elected at the regular business meeting at the second Congress to be held after his election, except that at the organizing Congress the full ten members shall be elected and five of them to be determined by lot after the election, shall serve only until their successors are elected at the following Congress. No two of the ten elected members of the Executive Board shall be from the same country. The Executive Board may by co-optation fill any vacancy occurring in its body, the Board member so chosen to serve only for the unexpired term of the member whom he is chosen to succeed. Board members shall not be eligible to immediate re-election.

16. The Executive Board shall meet upon call of the President at least twice during every Congress, once before and once after the regular business meeting of the Constituent Assembly, and at least once in each of the full years between Congresses. The President may call additional meetings at any time and additional meetings must be held if requested by five or more of the Board members. Any Board member may appoint a proxy to act in his place.

They shall be elected by the Constituent Assembly at its regular business meeting at each Congress from among the persons who have served as delegates from associational or institutional members or who are individual or honorary members of the Council and shall serve until their successors are elected at the next regular business meeting of the Constituent Assembly. They shall not be eligible for immediate re-election.

18. The President shall preside at all meetings of the Constituent Assembly and of the Executive Board, and shall perform such other duties as may be directed by the Constituent Assembly or Executive Board. Should the President be absent or incapacitated at any meeting, the Vice-President from the hemisphere opposite that represented by the President shall preside, and, if he is absent or incapacitated, the Vice-President from the same hemisphere shall preside.

19. Should the office of President become vacant, the Vice-President from the hemisphere opposite that represented by the President shall assume that office and its duties and hold them for the remainder of the term.

20. The Secretary-General and the Treasurer shall be chosen by the Executive Board at its first meeting following a meeting of the Constituent Assembly at which new officers and Board members are elected, and they shall serve until their successors are chosen at the next such Board meeting at the next Congress of Archivists. They shall be eligible for re-election.

21. The Secretary-General shall keep the minutes of the Constituent Assembly and the Executive Board, conduct the formal correspondence of the Council, maintain the membership rolls, facilitate the work of committees, present such reports of the Council as the Executive Board may request, and perform such other duties as may be required by action or direction of the Constituent Assembly or the Executive Board. He shall maintain, in a location approved by the Executive Board, an office, which shall be the Central Office of the International Council on Archives. He may receive compensation in an amount to be designated by the Executive Board, and may employ assistance to the extent approved by the Executive Board.

22. The Treasurer shall have the custody of all funds belonging to the Council and shall pay them out only on the presentation of bills certified by the Secretary-General. He may be required by the Executive Board to give bond in such sum as the Board may request for the faithful performance of his trust. He shall keep an account of all receipts and all payments and the balances in all funds and shall report thereon to the Executive Board whenever required. He shall report also to the Constituent Assembly at its regular business meeting at each Congress and at any business meeting which the Assembly may hold between Congresses.

Committees

23. The President, the Secretary-General, and the Treasurer shall constitute a finance committee which shall prepare an annual budget for submission to the Executive Board. They shall also make recommendations with respect to investments, which recommendations must be approved by the Executive Board before such arrangements can be made.

24. There shall be a nominating committee of five members, each from a different country and with not more than three from the same hemisphere, appointed by the President at least a year in advance of the meeting of each Congress. One member, who shall serve as Chairman, shall be appointed from among the five members of the Executive Board who were elected at the last regular business meeting of the Constituent Assembly. No one of the other four shall be also a member of the Executive Board. The nominating Committee shall make nominations for the three officers and five members to be elected. Notice of these nominations shall be sent to all members of the Council at least four months in advance of the meeting of a Congress. Nominations by petition must be submitted to the Secretary-General at least three weeks before the meeting and signed by at least fifteen members from two or more countries. If any such nominations are received, elections will be by written ballot.

25. There shall be appointed by the President as early as possible after each Congress a Committee on Programme to plan for the next one, and, as soon the meeting place of the next Congress is fixed, the President shall appoint also a Committee on Local Arrangements, the Chairman of which Committee shall be from the host country.

26. Additional business Committees of temporary character may be created by the President upon his own initiative or by resolution of the Executive Board. Their members shall be appointed by the President, who shall also designate their Chairman who shall be responsible to, and report to, the Executive Board. The findings and reports of such Committees shall be in writing and shall be fully available to all members of the Council upon request. Such Committees shall lapse with the election of a new President and a new Board.

27. Professional Committees shall be established by the Executive Board, upon its own initiative or in response to direction by the Constituent Assembly. Such Committees shall be given definite terms of reference for their work and they shall not go beyond such terms of reference without the sanction of the Executive Board unless by specific action the Constituent Assembly should provide otherwise. Any professional committee, unless otherwise provided by the Constituent Assembly, shall be limited in size to nine members, and the Chairman and members, also unless otherwise provided by the Constituent Assembly, shall be appointed by the President, provided, however, that in selecting the members of a committee the President shall consult with the Secretary-General and the designated Chairman. The Chairman of a professional committee shall render a report in writing to the Secretary-General whenever requested which shall be not less than once a year, and such reports shall be communicated in full and without alteration to the Executive Board and the Constituent Assembly at their next meetings. A professional committee established by the Executive Board may be discontinued or limited in its terms of reference by action either of the Executive Board or the Constituent Assembly, but no professional committee established by the Constituent Assembly may be discontinued or limited in its terms of reference except by action of that Assembly.

28. The minutes, accounts, correspondence, and other records of the Council and its subordinate bodies, including committees, shall be preserved by the responsible officials and shall be turned over promptly by them to their successors in office. Records that are not needed for the conduct of the current affairs of the Council shall be turned over to the Secretary-General who shall have custody of the Archives of the Council, provided, however, that by vote of the Constituent Assembly, any non-current records may be transferred to a repository of its choice for permanent preservation.

Amendments

29. This Constitution may be amended only at a regular meeting of the Constituent Assembly. All proposed amendments shall be submitted in writing to the Secretary-General, who at least sixty days prior to the meeting at which they shall be voted upon shall circulate copies of them to all members. If approved first by the Executive Board an amendment may be adopted by a majority vote of the Constituent Assembly. If not so approved, a two-thirds vote in the Constituent Assembly shall be necessary.

APPENDIX B

Sastri was requested to collect information on the number of columns that can be accommodated in Royal Octavo size.

APPENDIX E

BAGHELKHAND HISTORICAL RECORDS COMMISSION

ANNUAL REPORT, 1947-48

I have the honour to report that the proposals and recommendations of the Baghelkhand Historical Records Commission mostly remained unimplemented during the year under review with the result that research work is not making much headway. The Saraswati Bhandar, Rewa, is still without a scientific catalogue; the Central Record Office has not yet been organised on scientific lines; Government Archives have not yet been thrown open for bonafide research.

Circular letters were addressed as usual to a large number of important families requesting them to furnish information regarding their family records. In Uprahti, Rewa, an Altamgha grant of Prince Akbar II, S/O Emperor Shah Alam dated 19th Muharram 6th year of accession (1765 A.D.) was discovered granting village Allari in Sarkar Kora, Suba Ilahabad to Sarab Sukh, ancestor of Pandit Raghubir Sharan of the famous family of Rajvaidyas of Rewa.

The Secretary contributed a couple of research papers to research journals.

Hindi and English translations of Rupani Sharma's Vanshawali of Maharaja Bhava Singh and of the Vira Bhadra Champu were ready but there were difficulties in obtaining the original MSS for purposes of collation before sending the matter to the press. It was decided in the third meeting of the Research and Publication Committee held on the 1st June 1948 under the Chairmanship of Lal Yadvendra Singh, Education Minister, that some one may be deputed to the Royal Asiatic Society of Bengal for getting a correct version of the genealogy prescribed in the library of the Society as appendix to a manuscript of the Kathasaritsagar of Somadeva. It was also decided that a fresh attempt should be made through Government to obtain the original manuscript of the Virabhadra Champu from the Saraswati Bhandar Library of H.H. the Maharana of Udaipur. Arrangements were made with the Durbar Press, Rewa, for the printing of both the works and Government permission has been received for the publication of the former viz. the Vanshawali. Guru Ram Piyare Agnihotri furnished genealogies from the descendants of the courtiers of Maharaja Bhava Singh mentioned in the Vanshawali.

Pandit Rambhadra Goud has prepared a revised edition of the Ajit Fateh with introduction and notes to be published by the Commission and this book has priority No. 3 after the Kathasaritsagar Vanshawali and the Vira Bhadra Champu.

It was reported by Pt. Nand Kishore Postacharya that the late Pt. Bhawani Dutt Joshi has left a Hindi translation of the Sanskrit Anand Raghunandan Natak of Maharaja Vishwanath Singh which he completed after the patient labour of several years. Pandits Anand Chand Joshi and Jagdish Chand Joshi have been requested to lend the MSS for examination.

Col. Janardan Singh informed that his proposals regarding Naikahai submitted to the ex-Ruler, though accepted by the Rewa Government, have not yet been implemented. The Education Minister was pleased to call for the papers and reopen the case for the additional reason that the list of warriors killed in the battle needed revision.

The following committee was appointed to make suggestions regarding changes in the constitution of the Baghelkhand Historical Records Commission which required modifications in view of practical difficulties : (1) Pandit Ram Chandra Goud (2) Moulvi Azaz Ali and (3) Secretary (Convener).

A transcribed copy of the Virabhadra Champu was obtained for the library from the Saraswati Bhandar, Udaipur, through the gracious kindness of His Highness the Maharana. A set of the poetical works of Thakur Gopal Sharan Singh of Naigarhi, proceedings of the Indian Historical Records Commission (ord. Series). Central Provinces Government publications on the history of Chhatisgarh and the Ehonslas of Nagpur were acquired besides Catalogues of MSS, bibliographies, Presentation Volumes and Sanskrit anthologies comprising of verses composed by poets who flourished at the Baghela court.

Under instructions from Hon'ble the Education Minister (No. 629, dated 18-10-47) as per verbal orders of the Council, and subsequent order of the Minister (No. 1239, dated 11-12-47) and his inspection remarks (No. 3301, dated 18-3-48) the office of the Baghelkhand Historical Records Commission was shifted from the house of the Secretary to the building of the Venkat Vidhya Sadan and accommodated in the Western Wing of the ground floor. The Superintendent, Archaeology, kindly gave all facilities.

With the establishment of the Vindhya Pradesh and the formation of a joint Government for the whole of the Union, Government were pleased to order that the jurisdiction of Heads of departments shall extend to the whole of the Pradesh (vide item No. 2 of Council Proceedings, dated 31-7-48 and 1-8-48) and Hon'ble the Prime Minister (under his No. 306, dated 11-12-48) sanctioned the change of name from Baghelkhand to Vindhya Historical Records Commission.

A. H. NIZAMI.

Secretary.

APPENDIX F

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE REGIONAL RECORDS SURVEY
COMMITTEES

The Regional Records Survey Committees set up by the Indian Historical Records Commission in various provinces have conducted some useful survey work. A brief report about their activities was given in the Indian Historical Records Commission Proceedings Volume XXV, Part I. Fresh reports have since been received from some of the Committees and significant information contained in them is summarised below :

Madras.—In December 1948 the Government of Madras set up a permanent Regional Records Survey Committee of its own with Professor C. S. Srinivasachari as its Convener. The constitution and the new personnel of the Committee will be found in the conspectus. Prior to the establishment of the permanent Committee, the ad hoc Committee conducted some valuable survey work. As reported last year the progress in respect of the survey of the Board of Revenue records had been further strengthened by the issue of a directive from the Madras Government to the Board of Revenue requesting the latter to issue instructions to the Collectors of Districts and to the Zamin Offices under them to prepare fresh lists of the records relating to their relations with the Nawabs of Carnatic and the East India Company. The provincial Government also asked the Curator, Madras Record Office, and the Board of Revenue to prepare lists of records of the religious establishments, temples, mosques and charitable organizations within the province. The Dewan of the Prince of Arcot also was requested to furnish a list of historical manuscripts of value in the possession of the Arcot family and a calendar of their donations to the various religious institutions during 1744-1855.

The Committee surveyed the collection of M. Ganana Diagon Mudaliar of Pondicherry and it hoped that some valuable materials illustrative of the fortunes of the Christian Courtiers of Pondicherry might be secured from him after the impending change in the political set up of Pondicherry. A number of papers, including certain genealogical lists, farmans of appointments, etc. were secured by the Committee from the family of Tanksal Jannappa Pandita and deposited with the Maharaja Serfoji's Tanjore Swaraswati Mahal Library, Tanjore, for purpose of verification and ultimate acquisition by the National Archives of India. An account of the Marakkayars and their maritime activities was being prepared by M. G. Muhammad Ali Marakkayar, a member of the Committee. The publicity programme of the Committee included nine radio talks in English, Telegu and Tamil which were delivered by the members of the Committee through All-India Radio Stations at Madras and Trichinopoly.

Uttar Pradesh.—The Lakhnau branch of the United Provinces Regional Records Survey Committee acquired through Dr. N. L. Chatterjee some valuable fārmans, letters and other documents in the possession of a private owner of Sandila at a cost of Rs. 600 only out of the Government of India grant. The Allahabad Branch formed two small Sub-Committees, one for Hindi and Sanskrit and the other for Persian, Arabic and Urdu and these two Sub-Committees between them examined and enlisted about 600 manuscripts of which a consolidated list was sent to the National Archives of India. The Agra, Aligarh and Banaras branches on the other hand could not do any effective survey work, but the Committee hoped that they would do so soon. About the inspection of official records in the province, Dr. N. L. Chatterjee continued his examination of Kutchery records at Lakhnau. The Committee also obtained permission from the Local Government to inspect the records of the Board of Revenue and of the Uttar Pradesh Government.

A new feature in the programme of the Uttar Pradesh Committee was that they enlisted the co-operation of students of the Universities of Allahabad and Lakhnau and the keen interest evinced by them resulted in the discovery of several valuable manuscripts. The publicity campaign of the Committee, which included talks from the All-India Radio stations at Lakhnau and Allahabad and press publicity through the local newspapers, also succeeded in bringing to light many valuable documents which the owners were willing to sell. Lack of adequate fund, however, rendered the Committee unable to secure these documents.

West Bengal.—The West Bengal Committee's activities include survey of collections of some prominent people of Bengal who were known to possess valuable family records dating back to the times of the East India Company. The most important among these were the Nizamat family papers and papers and relics of the Jagat Seth family. Equally important was the collection of family records of Nawab of Murshidabad, which was inspected personally by the President of the Committee, Dr. Jadunath Sarkar. The inspection of these two collections revealed a mass of valuable materials which would be of immense use to the historians of the early period of the East India Company's rule of the country. Independent reports on these two formed part of the printed annual report which the Committee has published.

Among other family papers inspected by the Committee mention might be made of the collections of Mr. Prafulla Chandra Mukherjee of Bandal; Mr. Phani Chakrabarty of Serampore, who had a unique collection relating to the Danish East India Company; and old records of the Serampore College. Mr. Tapan Kumar Roy Chaudhuri, a young worker of the Committee, brought to light some valuable papers that threw considerable light on the history of Susang Raj family, which gave an almost complete picture of a frontier Zamindari of the Mughal period. Mr. Roy Chaudhuri also unearthed a copy of a Madad-e-Mash sanad of pargana Bhaneshwari in Malda for the maintenance of the holy shrine of Hazrat Nur Qutbi Alam bearing the seal of Prince Shuja, 1058 A.H. Dr. N. K. Sinha, Secretary of the Committee, in the course of his tours in the Murshidabad district examined the ancient monuments, which according to him, were practically in a ruined condition and was of opinion that unless something were done by the Archaeological Department of the Government of India to preserve them, their collapse would not be long delayed.

Central Provinces.—Dr. Y. K. Deshpande, Convener of the Central Provinces Regional Records Survey Committee, visited places in Berar and adjoining areas and inspected the archives of Balaji temple and the collection of Walke family at Basim, the collections of the Deshmukh and Deshpandia families at Wun, Chanda and Pohona, and the collections of old families at Dewoolgaon Raja and Sindkhed. He also inspected the Persian journals of the Subahdars of Ellichpur and opened negotiations with the owners of the manuscripts for their purchase. Dr. Deshpande prepared notes of his inspections and also arranged for the transcription of those manuscripts. Messrs. S. G. Chatte and D. G. Landge of Nagpur in the course of their survey work in the Nagpur Division came across several documents of the Bhonsla period, some of the Mughal period and a few of the time of Nizamshahi of Ahmadnagar. Arrangements were being made by the Committee to get handwritten or photostat copies of these documents. Pandit L. P. Pandeya similarly came across some valuable manuscripts in the Chhattisgarh division, which were of considerable historical importance.

The Committee's work on the transcription and translation of the Persian Correspondence from the East India Company to the Poona Darbar was completed and nearly 90 documents were reported to be ready. The Committee's publicity programme included three talks from the Nagpur station of All-India Radio in English, Hindi, and Marathi, which were delivered by the members of the Committee.

Bihar.—The activities of the Committee for Bihar has been reviewed in a small pamphlet, published by the Committee, which reveals that the survey work of the Committee was rewarded with the discovery of a number of old manuscripts and documents of historical as well as literary value. Professor Surajdeo Narain and Dr. H. R. Ghosal, two members of the Committee, in the course of their inspection of old records in the Muzaffarpur Collectorate came across a number of valuable records, and an account of 51 comparatively important documents which had so far been scrutinized by them and which related to different subjects like Currency, Land Settlements, Opium, Indigo, Prices of articles, Lithography, etc., have been given in the pamphlet, with the Convener's comment on some of them. Dr. K. K. Datta, Convener of the Committee, transcribed 47 farmans, sanads, orders, etc., issued at the time of the Mughal rule in India ranging from Jhansgir to Shah Alau II's reign, most of which related to grants of lands, properties and appointments.

Besides these the Committee came across through Pandit Vishnulal Shastri 20 manuscripts dealing with Veda, Vyakarana, Nyaya Dharmasastra, Alankara, Purana, Kamasastra, Tantra and Literature out of which six were unpublished. Twelve volumes of Vansbhaskara dealing with the ancient history of Rajputana have also come to the notice of the Committee along with a silver coin. Pandit Mishra also brought to the notice of the Convener a copy of the Firman granted by Emperor Aurangzeb to Raja Pratap Narain Sinha of Sugauna Oiwinwar family for the whole of Mithila Raj.

Orissa.—During the year under review the Committee for Orissa came across some valuable palm leaf manuscripts in Oriya and Sanskrit and also some documents in English, Urdu and Oriya scripts dealing with various aspects of history, politics, literature, religion, genealogy, art, architecture etc. Most of these were purchased by the Committee and transcription of others were prepared by it. The originals and the transcriptions were sent to the National Archives of India for custody. Three talks in Oriya from All India Radio station at Cuttack formed part of the publicity programme of the Orissa Government.

Delhi.—During the year the Committee for Delhi was engaged in transcribing the Tarikh-i-Sorath, Shah Jehan Nama, Tarikh-i-Alamgir II and Tarikh-i-Alamgir-i-Sani, the famous Persian collections of Khawaja Hasan Nizami of Delhi. The Committee which was working with the Convener (Dr. S. N. Sen) as its only member, was informed by the Chief Commissioner, Delhi, about his decision to form a permanent Committee for the province of Delhi. In view, however, of the financial difficulties the Government of India had not been in a position to offer any grant-in-aid immediately. But the question was expected to be revived in 1951-52.

Bombay.—No report was received from the Committee for Bombay.

APPENDIX I
LIST OF EXHIBITS

THE HISTORICAL EXHIBITION

Descriptive list of Historical Manuscripts, Paintings, Seals & Coins Etc., exhibited at Cuttack in connection with the Twentysixth Session of the Indian Historical Records Commission & the Twelfth Session of the Indian History Congress.

24th to 28th December, 1949.

PREFACE

The historical exhibition organised in connection with the annual sessions of the Indian Historical Records Commission at different centres in India is an important feature of the sessions. In the exhibition not only the records but many other exhibits such as coins, seals, copper-plates, photographs of stone inscriptions etc., are included from different parts of India, and a special stress is given to the exhibits of the area where the sessions meet. The duration of the exhibition is very short and the visitors even do not find time to see all the exhibits, and hence the necessity of the printing of this catalogue which serves the purpose of a permanent Hand Book for the historians for further study at leisure.

At the request of the Secretary, Indian Historical Records Commission, Central and Provincial Governments and many institutions of India have lent their exhibits to make this exhibition a success. But the local response in Orissa has been considerable. This catalogue will show that many new exhibits have come to light from private possessions. The collection of the Utkal University is most important among the collections of Orissa and it suggests that a proper search will bring to light many historical materials.

The documents belonging to Moghal and Maratha periods exhibited from the Record Room of the Collector of Cuttack are very important for the history of Orissa. So far no Moghal Farman was known from Orissa but such a document was found in the Collector's Record Room.

The Government of Orissa has been pleased to prepare suitable showcases for the occasion for proper display of exhibits, and all the District Magistrates also have co-operated fully in collecting exhibits even from private sources. Sri S. C. De, B. A. (Hons.) D. Ed., the Curator of the National Archives, and Pandit Sadasiva Rath Sarma, the Research Assistant of the Utkal University, and many others have rendered valuable service in selecting exhibits from various sources and we offer our best thanks to them all.

Cuttack,

THE HISTORICAL EXHIBITION

DESCRIPTIVE LIST OF EXHIBITS

I—Exhibits from the National Archives of India

The Exhibits displayed in this Collection have been arranged into three different groups :—

- I. Containing Documents or their photographic copies illustrating some aspects of history of Orissa from 1770 to 1862 particularly in its relation to the British Power in India ;
 - II. Including Documents of more or less general interest or their photographic copies throwing light on some of the significant episodes in the history of India from 1757 to 1911 ; and
 - III. Containing specimens illustrating different methods of repair, preservation and reproduction of documents and books.
- I. In the First Group have been included several documents in Oriya (Nos. 8, 9, 10 and 11) which would help to throw interesting side lights on the Oriya language and the script as they were in use in the early 19th century. Special mention may be made of No. 7 A, which gives a vivid picture of the political condition of Orissa at the time of its cession to the British Power and of No. 12 a Sanskrit address which reveals the immediate reaction of an important section of the public in the ceded area to the new change. Of particular interest to the anthropologist will be the items 17, 25 and 26 all throwing light on the practices of homicide and rites of human sacrifice obtaining among certain aboriginals domiciled in Orissa.
- II. Among the documents arranged in the Second Group of particular interest are several original Persian letters among which figure two letters from Nana Farnavis (Nos. 28 and 31), one from Tipu Sultan and one from Maharaja Ranjit Singh. Equally interesting is an autograph Qasida of the distinguished poet Ghalib dated circa 1847 (No. 42). The students of the history of Indian press will find interest in the representation made on 5th January 1885, against the Press regulations of 1823 by the prominent citizens of Calcutta (No. 38). Among other significant documents are Lord Dalhousie's minute on Women's Education in India (No. 43) and Lord

Auckland's minute on the promotion of Education in India (No. 41), both being landmarks in the cultural history of the land.

The exhibits marked with asterisks in both the groups are original documents, the rest being photographic copies.

IV—Exhibits from Assam Provincial Museum, Gauhati, Assam.

1. A new set of copper-plate inscription of Vanamalavarmadeva an illustrious King of ancient Kamarupa of the 9th century A. D.:—

It consists of three plates with the seal of the King attached. This is the second set of the Copper-plate Inscription of Vanamala. The first set which was found more than hundred years ago and edited in the Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, Vol. IX, 1840, is no longer available and as such the value of this newly discovered set is considerable. This set was discovered in Parbatia village near Tezpur in Darrang district. The inscriptions have been deciphered by Sjt. P. D. Chaudhury, M. A., B. L, Curator, Assam Provincial Museum and a short historical note on the plates by Sjt. Chaudhury has been published in the EDUCATIONAL FORUM of Hindusthan Standard and a detailed article with facsimile will appear in the EPIGRAPHIA INDICA in due course. This newly discovered set has cleared up the doubt as sustained by Late Pandit Padma Nath Vidyabinode regarding Bhagadatta's acquisition of second Kingdom known as UPARIPATTANA (hilly regions adjacent to PRAGJYOTISHA). in addition to that of PRAGJYOTISHA, this inscription has proved beyond doubt that after the death of Naraka his son Bhagadatta became the King of PRAGJYOTISHA and Vajradatta brother of Bhagadatta acquired the Kingdom of UPARIPATTANA through the favour of Mahadeva.

Further this Copper-plate clearly mention the name of Harjara-varman's father as Salambha and not Pralambha as has hitherto been known and the name of Harjara's wife has been given here as Srimangala and not Srimattara or Mangalasri as previously known.

It has been stated here that a village called Haposa has been granted to a Brahmin named Curamoni by the King.

This set, it may be added, has created great interest among the learned scholars including Dr. N P. Chakravarty, Director General of Archaeology in India who has been good enough to send certain valuable suggestions to Curator Chaudhury who is now editing the plates.
